All OK As Apollo 10 Drifts To Moon

HAPPY WIFE. Mrs. Barbara Young, wife of Apollo 10 command module pilot, John Young, was a woman of many happy expressions during a news conference at her home in Seabrook, Tex., Sunday. Mrs. Young talked to newsmen after the successful launching of the rocket which propelled the astronauts on their way to the second attempt to orbit the moon. (UPI Telephoto)

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — With precision, and nonchlance unimagined when America first ventured into space eight years ago, Apollo 10 coasted toward the moon today —its television cameras taking earthlings along as sightseers.

Not even a minor hitch marred Sunday's complicated sequence that set Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. Eugene Cernan and John W. Young on their path-finding mission for the landing of the first humans on the moon, scheduled in July.

It went like the script said: the launch of the Saturn 5 rocket, the insertion in orbit, the separation of spacecraft from booster rocket, the spacecraft's somersault—then its return to the booster to pluck out the lunar lander.

A ground controller said it was like a taped replay of earth-bound practice sessions.

"That's all it is, babe," said Cernan.

During the night, however, Cernan complained they were being awakened by periodic firing of thruster rockets to maintain the spacecraft's flight attitude and wanted to know if this was causing undue consumption of fuel.

Crew Relaxing

"Things vibrate for about three seconds (at a time)," Cernan said.

After a quick check, ground controllers assured the astronauts that Apollo 10's use of propellant was almost exactly what had been figured in advance.

As for the vibration, Mission Control said there appeared to be no ready solution to the problem and "we're going to have to scratch our heads awhile on that."

Until Wednesday, when Apollo 10 nears the moon after hurtling 251,307 miles, its crew has relatively little to do.

The experiments that made this flight look easy were perfected step-by-step, mission-by-mission in America's 19 space trips beginning with Alan B. Shepard's 15 minute, 22 second flight May 5, 1961.

As the bullet-shaped ship sped from earth's grasp, hooked nose-to-nose with the ungainly space taxi that will take Stafford and Cernan close to the moon's surface Wednesday, its crewmen found time to snare their exploits with TV viewers on the ground—and to exult over the sights.

Instead of transmitting only 15 minutes as planned, the color cameras went on four times for a total of 72 minutes.

The earth, partly swaddled in clouds and glowing brilliant blue and brown against the black velvet of space, prompted Cernan to exclaim:

"You blink your eyes and look out there; and you know it's three dimensional. But it's just sitting out there in the middle of nowhere. It's unbelievable."

Then he said:

"Just for the record, it looks like a pretty nice place to live"

Before they retired for the night, Stafford commented, "Sounds like we'll soon be 55,000 miles out."

"That's right," said mission control.

"Sounds like a long way from home, Joe," Stafford replied.

"That's right," said astronaut Joe Engle, the communicator on the night shift. "You guys covered a lot of ground today."

While they slept, their spacecraft traveled another 36,000 miles—slowing constantly from the 24,293 miles an hour that enabled it to leave earth's grasp.

The Apollo 10 crew was easily the chattiest to date.

"We just want to thank all the people who helped us get up here, Stafford said once. "That includes the taxpayers, too."

The mission is costing about $350 million.

All three astronauts said before the flight they wanted to do as much telecasting as possible. "We want to share it with you because you can see what's behind the gee whizzes and oh golly that we speak of during the flight," Cernan said.

At 3:34 p.m. Wednesday, the spacecraft begins circling the

Racial Problems Marked By Acts Of Murder, Arson

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Tension eased here today after five days of arson, murder and looting. People crowded streets to purchase essential food during relaxed curfew hours.

There were reports looting was increasing in downtown homes evacuated by 5,000 people at the height of the trouble. Some reports said Malay troops were taking part in looting.

Authorities said 132 persons had been killed in the capital and four persons in other parts of the country, but unofficial medical sources said at least 300 bodies had been counted in morgues and hospitals.

At least 342 persons have been injured and 2,768 arrested, including many for violating the curfew.

Some 140 buildings were burned and 109 vehicles damaged. Two fires were visible from downtown today.

Throughout the capital vigilante groups were organizing to guard shops and homes.

Some 3,000 Chinese refugees housed at the Merdeka Stadium organized themselves into teams to distribute food and keep guard. Children were being washed assembly line style.

The picture was vastly different at the Chinwood Auditorium where about 1,000 Malays refugees were housed. The smell of rotting food was in the air, and the people lay about lethargically.

A Red Cross worker warned that unless action was taken soon to clear up the mess there was a real danger of typhus.

The new emergency government consisting of the National Operations Council headed by Deputy Prime Minister Abdul Razak met at the downtown Parliament House.

Razak announced the arrest of 60 "hard core Communists" Saturday night and the arrest Friday of "90 hard core Communists and their supporters in hiding."

Elderly Couple Says 'I Do'

By LUCILLE HUSTON

A 91-year-old Alliance man firmly answered "I do" when the minister asked, "Do you take this woman to be your wife?" during a wedding ceremony Sunday at 2 p.m.

Stella Wright, 77, of Wellsville RD 1, was the radiant bride. Her new husband is James W. Brown of Alliance, a carpenter, who will be 92 in June.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Nettie Hawk, Mrs. Brown's minister, in her trailer home on Route 39, about two miles northwest of Wellsville.

Mrs. Dorothy Shinn, daughter of the bride, served her mother as maid-of-honor.

Kenneth, great - grandson of the bridegroom, was best man.

The couple was married beneath a huge pink wedding bell and the room was appropriately decorated. About 100 members of the family and guests were present. They will reside in the trailer.

According to members of the families, they have known each other for some time, but only recently had become close friends. They decided about two months ago to get married.

Mr. Brown said, "My first wife and I lived together for 71 years — we were very happy.

River Dragging Continues In Search For Boy's Body

Dragging operations resumed today in the Ohio River near Babbs Island for the body of a 15-year-old East End boy missing and believed drowned Saturday afternoon after he and five companions attempted to swim the narrow channel between the Ohio shore and the island.

The victim was identified as Larry Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Parsons of 471 Mulberry St. Authorities said he apparently was stricken with cramps in the cold water while swimming about midway between the shore at East End and the head of the island. He vanished about 170 feet from shore, despite a friend's efforts to save him.

EAST LIVERPOOL firemen and police, summoned by telephone by Mrs. Robert Buchheit of 961 Ohio Ave., rushed to the scene. Firemen took along a rescue boat which was used to begin dragging. Dozens of volunteers helped in the dragging operations over the weekend, including Chester firemen and Civil Defense workers from throughout the area.

The dragging continued until 1:30 a.m. today and then resumed at daylight.

Mrs. Buchheit said her son, Robert J. Buchheit, 12, was fishing on the shore near their home, which fronts on the river. He said Larry and five other boys appeared. When they said they intended to swim to the island, the Buchheit boy cautioned Larry that the water was too cold, his mother said. But some of the other boys called him "Chicken" and he joined in the swim, the boy related.

Mrs. Buchheit said she first heard of the drowning when her son ran to the house shouting: "Mother, come quick, Larry is drowning!" Mrs. Buchheit immediately telephoned police. The call was logged at 3:24. Police dispatched a cruiser and a few minutes later firemen were asked to send men and a rescue boat.

The Buchheit boy shouted to some boys on the island to take their boat and help save Larry, Mrs. Buchheit related.

DON AP BIA, Vietnam (AP) —The paratroopers came down from the mountain, their shirts dark green with sweat, their weapons gone, their bandages stained brown and red. With mud and blood.

Many cursed Lt. Col. Weldon Honeycutt, the hard-nosed battalion commander who sent three companies Sunday to take this 3,000-foot mountain just over a mile east of Laos and overlooking the shell-pocked A Shau Valley.

They failed and they suffered.

"That damn Black Jack won't stop unless he kills every damn one of us," said one of the 40 to 50 101st Airborne Division troopers who was wounded.

At least 10 died on the hill.

Honeycutt, 38, of Columbus, Ga., had been given an order: Take the mountain. It had been steadily pounded since May 10 by artillery, riot gas and more than 70 air strikes. It is believed to contain a North Vietnamese regimental headquarters and a supply cache.

By Sunday, the mountaintop was almost bare, its heavy jungle cover blasted apart by artillery, rockets, bombs and napalm. But still visible were the bunkers. They looked like evenly-spaced shell depressions.

U.S. intelligence said Sunday morning the mountain was held by "two companies, plus." In the afternoon, Hontycutt revised it upwards to two battalions that had infiltrated and reinforced the mountain stronghold Saturday night.

Since May 13 his battalion had suffered heavy casualties assaulting Dong AP Bia—about 35 killed and some 180 wounded seriously enough to be evacuated.

As of Sunday, the mountain had been ground-assaulted 10 times by the 3rd Battalion, 187th Infantry.

The paratroopers had made it to the top three times, and three times intense enemy fire drove them back.

Rogers Seen Reassuring Asians Of U.S. Backing

BANGKOK, (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers, arriving in Bangkok from Saigon, said today that the United States and its allies are working diligently for early peace in Vietnam.

"We all hope that the need for military action will soon be ended," he said in an airport statement.

Rogers is here to attend a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) Tuesday and Wednesday.

He was met by Thailand's Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman and was given the traditional garland of sweet smelling jasmine flowers as a sign of welcome.

Rogers told Thanat that the United States is a member of both the Atlantic and Pacific communities.

"We do not place priorities on our relationships with Europe or Asia," he said.

He apparently intended this to reassure the Asian allies that in seeking peace in Vietnam, the United States does not intend to turn its back on Asia.

Help On A Selling Job

Planners, industrialists and civic leaders have been aware of the desirability for effective use of the new Columbiana County Airport near Glenmoor once the facility is ready.

But Gov. James Rhodes brought the community's leaders face to face with the vital need for positive and energetic action to exploit the air field potential for attracting industry.

The governor offered the assistance of his administration and of the Industrial Development Department in establishing a group of area "salesmen" to go out and place the advantages of water, highways, railroads, labor resources and market accessibility before men who could bring new business here.

A major campaign to seek industry which can produce jobs and additional tax revenue has never been undertaken before. A combined effort by development agencies and government representatives from throughout Columbiana County has never been attempted.

Gov. Rhodes has set up a challenge, offering transportation, analytic help, the influence of his office. "You can get industries — a dozen of them. Nothing happens until you do something."

Aligned with what work has already been accomplished, and inspired by this new incentive from the Governor, there is a growing confidence that we will achieve significant growth in this district as a result of aggressive use of our talents and full cooperation between our communities.

A French 'Ticket'

It may not be exactly politics in the American style but the announcement Thursday in Paris that Pierre Mendes-France, a former French premier, has signed on as "running mate" of the Socialist presidential candidate, Gaston Defferre, is a move in that direction.

For the agreement of the two leftist leaders to campaign together in the race to succeed Charles de Gaulle represents the first "ticket" in French election history.

In a joint press conference, presidential hopeful Defferre announced that, if elected, he would name Mendes-France, hero of the French leftwing intellectuals, as his prime minister.

Current public opinion polls show Defferre far behind the two leading candidates, Georges Pompidou and Alain Poher, interim president. But French political observers feel that announcement of the "ticket" undoubtedly will add votes to the Defferre column on election day.

It will be interesting to see whether other candidates forgo Defferre's lead and select "running mates" in the American style or stick to the traditional one man candidacy.

Successful or not, Defferree's "ticket" move could change the complexion of electioneering in France.

Musings From Max

By MARTIN MILLER

We have all heard and read about how it is a tiny minority of university students who are causing all the violence on campuses across the land and it is about time somebody spoke up in defense of the majority of university faculties.

A vast number of professors, instructors, teaching fellows, or what-have-you, does not approve of student violence. Statistics are hard to come by on this subject but from innumerable press accounts only a tiny minority of faculty members vocally support violent students and even fewer participate in the violence.

This speaks well for the overwhelming faculty representation that teaches non-violence as the best policy for achieving results in the long run.

Many heavy thinkers have expressed the belief that violence is counterproductive, which means that he who lives by the sword dies by the sword—or he who cracks someone else's head, his own head shall be cracked.

Ninety-nine out of 100 university teachers are just plain Joes—beards, tweeds, pipes and all—trying to do their job of inculcating mankind's accumulated wisdom and ever-widening horizons in the young. And they aren't only Joes, either, many are Janes.

Take heart fellow Americans. No matter what you hear or read about the U.S. Supreme Court there is still hope. Despite its various decisions on religion the high court still pays a man of the cloth to pray for it.

Other good news in a way is that Russia also is having its troubles with at least one rebel who, in appearance, could pass unnoticed in a hippie hangout. He was kicked out of the Communist party and lost his job for protesting the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia, censorship and trials of writers. He wears a beret, cowbow pants, black leather jacket and a beard. Sounds familiar for a dissenter.

Many of Justice Fortas' former ardent supporters believe he overstepped the bounds of propriety in his Wolfson connections but before the cases passes into history it might be pointed out that lawyers, law enforcement officers, governors and other such officials are particularly apt targets for charges of underworld associations because by the nature of their positions they have to deal with criminals and wrong doers in one way or another. The trick is to be sure to deal lawfully, ethically and above reproach.

All of this recent news about speculation in gold is about as far removed from the experiences of us men in the street as an African safari. By the way, what ever happened to those those tiny $5 gold pieces they used to give for perfect attendance in Sunday School?

One of our punsters has been at it again.

You show me a conservative communist and I'll show you a Red Square.

What do a would-be novelist, counterfeiter and trumpeting elephant have in common? A trunkful of notes.

A footnote in a magazine describing the author of a humorous article said: "John Heidenry is at work on a famous novel." This is like that oldie about the archeologists who dug up coin which they knew was ancient and valuable. because it bore the inscription "319 B.C."

Letters To The Editor

We want to clarify the misconception a lot of people have concerning the Community Centers located in three old school buildings in East Liverpool.

For some reason people seem to think that if they don't live in the immediate area of a certain building, they are not welcome there. The very fact that they are called COMMUNITY CENTERS disputes this idea. Everyone is welcome in any of these buildings; the centers will not be able to remain in operation if the people do not take an active interest.

Also, there is a question about memberships. The only thing that the small fee for membership does is give the individual the right to vote on any issue brought up at the monthly business meetings. You DO NOT have to be a member to enjoy the centers and the facilities therein or to volunteer help of any kind.

We are trying to establish a worthwhile and lasting program in East Liverpool, not only for the youths, but for the adults too.

Why can't we pool our resources and keep these centers operating for many years to come? Isn't it better to have your children going to a supervised recreation hall rather than roaming the streets? Let's all ask ourselves these questions and see if we can't work together to make our city a better place to live.

Music Efforts Lauded

Next Tuesday there will be a band concert at Southern Local High School. Included in the program will be the beginners training band making their first public appearance.

Last year the band lost many members at graduation time, and this year's band contained many new and younger members.

It has been a difficult year, with lessons being given at elementary schools distances apart and also students being gathered up various places to come to the high school each day for band practice.

The band director spends several nights a week repairing instruments when they often get broken.

For several weeks part of the band and other students in high school worked hard to present the musical "Bubble Trouble." The last two weeks they gave their time to practice every night until 10.

There were not enough people who took the time to come and see them to pay the cost of presenting it. We did not have the musical in order to make money. The students in the cast really had a ball, and felt it was worth all the hard work. But when we sat down and thought about how many people who were not there, it really hurt.

We know there is much going on and many could not come. But the majority of empty seats were because of the lack of interest in the activities of our young people.

One former member of the Southern Local Band spent three years in the Army Band. This spring another entered the Army Band.

One former member is now teaching music after receiving a four - year scholarship. One boy is now in college. There is a future in music for members of the band after graduation day.

This year's concerts have been beautiful music. At Tuesday night's concert, will you be there to enjoy it or will an empty chair represent your lack of interest and concern for the activities of our youth?

Romney Socks It To Labor

WASHINGTON — And now George Wilcken Romney has become the Nixon administration's first angry man.

Last Monday he decided to confront 3,000 labor officials—AFL-CIO building and construction leaders, at that—and tell them what he thought their public image was. He told them he would tell it like it is. At first the union chiefs, jammed into the Hilton ballroom, thought he was jesting. Then they realized as he raced swiftly on, with no text, that he was serious. Then they booed, they hooted, they jeered.

Victor Riesel

In effect, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development Romney told them there was a desperate need for housing and they had better get off their trowels and into the 20th century so that ancient cities could be remade, thousands on thousands of new apprenticss could be trained, and slums could be cleared from the asphalt jungles.

NO GOVERNMENT OFFICIAL ever has talked this way to this concentration of union chiefs. Later, their leaders told each other they thought Mr. Romney had deliberately provoked them. They knew that he had come straight from a luncheon of forestry industry executives, where he had said he was going right over to the union legislative convention to "lay it on the line." No one seems to know whether the White House cleared his declaration of war on labor's inner establishment.

Over at qud, the word in the highest echelons is that Gov. Romney is furious just plain furious. He's fed up with the construction unions' 400 per cent wage increase over the past seven years, and with the locals' work restrictions, both of which he believes delay the swift building of homes for America.

There are work restrictions—work practices. they call them. For example, in many areas there are union bans on prefabricated doors, walls, windows, floors, wiring, plumbing, etc. Thus, some housing parts come into a site and are disassembled and put together again. Wiring is removed and rewired. Prefabricated doors are not hung. Pipes of certain sizes cannot be placed into a home or building. They must be cut on the site by the plumbers.

There is, for example, a restriction which prevents a superintendent of a job from giving orders to a worker (crew member), even if they are standing alongside each other. The super must first go and find a foreman. Then the foreman is given the instructions to pass on to the craftsman, who was standing a few inches from the superintendent in the first place.

For the most part, foremen must be members of the union. They hand out the work. Sometimes there are many more foremen than necessary.

HIGH-PRICED CARPENTERS, electricians, pipefitters and engineers do manual labor like unloading material. This shoots up the construction cost, since unloading could be done by unskilled men at unskilled rates.

Some operating engineers are "tied" to a specific piece of equipment. If the machine is laid up or broken, the highly paid union operating engineer is not laid off. He continues to draw pay, though he has no work to do and can't be shifted to another piece of equipment.

Frequently shop stewards, by a quirk of the union contract, can be on overtime, though there is no work to do. So he gets premium pay for doing nothing.

On some jobs, permission must be obtained from the union by the employer to use certain prefabricated materials such as pipes, wiring, precut sectional parts, doors, cabinets and walls. This is where, in some instances, the union takes the "prefab" parts apart and puts them together again.

There are highly paid workers who simply stand by and watch a piece of equipment when there is little likelihood of it being used and, even if put into action, would be handled by other crafts.

CEMENT FINISHERS; for example, insist frequently on standing by while concrete is being poured and they are not needed until it's all in place. They are paid for simple looking on during "the pour."

Considerable heavy equipment runs automatically on electricity. The machines are started and stopped merely by the push of a button. But high-priced operating engineers are employed, at the insistence of the union, just to push the button—which could be done by anyone on the job.

Many building union contracts prevent the employer from hiring more than fife apprentices—and the pact stipulates that the term of "learning" shall not be less than five years. This is considered too lengthy and rigid.

All this and a score more of such work practices have been galling Gov. Romney since he took over. He's had no quarrel with some of the building and construction trades national union leaders. They.ve been in his office for long talks—as recently as May 7. They've been willing to cooperate. They've been trying to absorb more apprentices. They've been trying to drag some of the work practices out of the 19th century.

But let's face it. These tough local unions and their walking delegates (axs they were called back in the gaslight days) are just to powerful, too disdainful, and immovable. And Mr. Romney faced it. He told them to stop thinking of themselves. They did. They thought of him. And they booed.

Now Mr. Romney says that if they don't move into the 20th century, he'll move them. He'll try, anyway.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Making It Understood

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has laid before the world in unmistakable terms the American case in the Vietnam War.

He has made it plain that the United States is not fighting just a little war in Asia or seeking territory or other advantages for itself but is trying conscientiously to find a way to deter future aggressions and prevent a bigger war.

Mr. Nixon, moreover, emphasizes that he wants the Vietnam conflict ended "permanently," so that the "younger brothers of our soldiers in Vietnam will not have to fight in the future in another Vietnam someplace else in the world."

THE PRESIDENT obviously is offering proposals that are not so rigid as to prohibit counter-suggestions and modifications. But he does not budge from his fundamental concept that there must be a peace which is guaranteed under some form of international supervision.

Mr. Nixon has indicated clearly that, while the United States is not trying to impose "a purely military solution on the battlefield," it will not consent to any "one-sided withdrawal from Vietnam" or the acceptance of terms that would amount to a "disguised American defeat."

To abandon the people of South Vietnam, he adds, would "risk a massacre that would shock and dismay everyone in the world who values human life."

The President goes even further—he predicts that the long-term hopes for peace in the world would be threatened unless a satisfactory settlement in Vietnam is assured.

Basically, the President has put greatest weight on the need for some "international supervisory body, acceptable to both sides; which would be created "for the purpose of verifying withdrawals."

Such an international authority would begin operating under an "agreed timetable" and would participate in arranging supervised cease-fires in Vietnam. The international commission would also supervise the elections to be held in South Vietnam and would insure that the peace terms are carried out.

Unfortunately, in the case of Korea, although an international supervisory mechanism was established, it was never permitted to operate effectively.

Mr. Nixon was right in his decision to make a comprehensive statement at this stage in the negotiations so that all nations would understand the earnest desire of the United States to make peace and would realize, too, that there will have to be a large measure of co-operation by the other side.

As might be expected, the first comments from Hanoi, Moscow and Peking are negative. For the Communists have a way of dealing with the public statements of other countries as if they were merely propaganda.

It remains to be seen whether, in the privacy of the negotiations at Paris or in the talks through diplomatic channels, there will be a recognition by the Communists that they are faced now with a major decision and that the United States is willing to terminate the war on an honorable basis.

CERTAINLY MR. NIXON'S speech has received what appears to be a majority support in Congress from both parties and the nation American objectives.

But the key to the problem lies in Moscow and Peking.

Will the Communist governments assume that America's eagerness for peace means that North Vietnam can persist in its intransigence and demand its own kind of coalition" in South Vietnam which could result in a Communist takeover and the failure of the American effort in Vietnam?

The real question is whether President Nixon will win widespread support throughout the world for his demand that there must be international supervision if any settlement reached is to prove effective.

For the most part, foremen must be members of the union. They hand out the work. Sometimes there are many more foremen than necessary.

HIGH-PRICED CARPENTERS, electricians, pipefitters and engineers do manual labor like unloading material. This shoots up the construction cost, since unloading could be done by unskilled men at unskilled rates.

Some operating engineers are "tied" to a specific piece of equipment. If the machine is laid up or broken, the highly paid union operating engineer is not laid off. He continues to draw pay, though he has no work to do and can't be shifted to another piece of equipment.

Frequently shop stewards, by a quirk of the union contract, can be on overtime, though there is no work to do. So he gets premium pay for doing nothing.

On some jobs, permission must be obtained from the union by the employer to use certain prefabricated materials such as pipes, wiring, precut sectional parts, doors, cabinets and walls. This is where, in some instances, the union takes the "prefab" parts apart and puts them together again.

There are highly paid workers who simply stand by and watch a piece of equipment when there is little likelihood of it being used and, even if put into action, would be handled by other crafts.

CEMENT FINISHERS; for example, insist frequently on standing by while concrete is being poured and they are not needed until it's all in place. They are paid for simple looking on during "the pour."

Considerable heavy equipment runs automatically on electricity. The machines are started and stopped merely by the push of a button. But high-priced operating engineers are employed, at the insistence of the union, just to push the button—which could be done by anyone on the job.

Many building union contracts prevent the employer from hiring more than fife apprentices—and the pact stipulates that the term of "learning" shall not be less than five years. This is considered too lengthy and rigid.

All this and a score more of such work practices have been galling Gov. Romney since he took over. He's had no quarrel with some of the building and construction trades national union leaders. They've been in his office for long talks—as recently as May 7. They've been willing to cooperate. They've been trying to absorb more apprentices. They've been trying to drag some of the work practices out of the 19th century.

But let's face it. These tough local unions and their walking delegates (axs they were called back in the gaslight days) are just to powerful, too disdainful, and immovable. And Mr. Romney faced it. He told them to stop thinking of themselves. They did. They thought of him. And they booed.

Now Mr. Romney says that if they don't move into the 20th century, he'll move them. He'll try, anyway.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Making It Understood

WASHINGTON — President Nixon has laid before the world in unmistakable terms the American case in the Vietnam War.

He has made it plain that the United States is not fighting just a little war in Asia or seeking territory or other advantages for itself but is trying conscientiously to find a way to deter future aggressions and prevent a bigger war.

Mr. Nixon, moreover, emphasizes that he wants the Vietnam conflict ended "permanently," so that the "younger brothers of our soldiers in Vietnam will not have to fight in the future in another Vietnam someplace else in the world."

THE PRESIDENT obviously is offering proposals that are not so rigid as to prohibit counter-suggestions and modifications. But he does not budge from his fundamental concept that there must be a peace which is guaranteed under some form of international supervision.

Mr. Nixon has indicated clearly that, while the United States is not trying to impose "a purely military solution on the battlefield," it will not consent to any "one-sided withdrawal from Vietnam" or the acceptance of terms that would amount to a "disguised American defeat."

To abandon the people of South Vietnam, he adds, would "risk a massacre that would shock and dismay everyone in the world who values human life."

The President goes even further—he predicts that the long-term hopes for peace in the world would be threatened unless a satisfactory settlement in Vietnam is assured.

Basically, the President has put greatest weight on the need for some "international supervisory body, acceptable to both sides; which would be created "for the purpose of verifying withdrawals."

Such an international authority would begin operating under an "agreed timetable" and would participate in arranging supervised cease-fires in Vietnam. The international commission would also supervise the elections to be held in South Vietnam and would insure that the peace terms are carried out.

Unfortunately, in the case of Korea, although an international supervisory mechanism was established, it was never permitted to operate effectively.

Mr. Nixon was right in his decision to make a comprehensive statement at this stage in the negotiations so that all nations would understand the earnest desire of the United States to make peace and would realize, too, that there will have to be a large measure of co-operation by the other side.

As might be expected, the first comments from Hanoi, Moscow and Peking are negative. For the Communists have a way of dealing with the public statements of other countries as if they were merely propaganda.

It remains to be seen whether, in the privacy of the negotiations at Paris or in the talks through diplomatic channels, there will be a recognition by the Communists that they are faced now with a major decision and that the United States is willing to terminate the war on an honorable basis.

CERTAINLY MR. NIXON'S speech has received what appears to be a majority support in Congress from both parties and the nation American objectives.

But the key to the problem lies in Moscow and Peking.

Will the Communist governments assume that America's eagerness for peace means that North Vietnam can persist in its intransigence and demand its own kind of coalition" in South Vietnam which could result in a Communist takeover and the failure of the American effort in Vietnam?

The real question is whether President Nixon will win widespread support throughout the world for his demand that there must be international supervision if any settlement reached is to prove effective.

4 Bills Slated For Action In Ohio's House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill that would authorize Common Pleas courts to grant injunctions at a board of health's request comes up for a vote in the Ohio House tonight.

The bill is sponsored by Rep. Rodney Hughes, R-8 Bellefontaine.

The Legislative Service Commission has analyzed the bill and says it will clarify the authority of health officials to petition for injunctive relief.

The commission said health boards want to use injunctions in matters where they decide a criminal charge is too severe.

It is one of four bills scheduled for a vote in the House. Five bills are up for floor action in the Senate.

The House is expected to receive a bipartisan resolution asking for a two-year study of Ohio's consumer credit laws.

The bills sponsors are Reps. Robert E. Levitt, R-91 Canton; Keith McNamara, R-64 Columbus and John McDonald, D-19 Newark.

The sponsors want to show what affect a proposed uniform consumer credit code would have on Ohio's current laws.

The uniform code is aimed at modernizing and simplifying laws on installment plans, consumer credit and small loans.

The sponsors say passage of the bill would mean a major overhaul of current laws.

Wednesday morning the Senate will hear a bill to require candidates for sheriff to be between 25 and 60 years old, and have a high school education and three years of law enforcement experience.

The first hearing on a bill to require licensing and inspection of Ohio slaughterhouses will be held Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. by the Senate Agriculture and State Agencies Commmittee.

The bill was introduced last week by Sen. Tennyson Guyer, R-2 Findlay, committee chairman.

A major discussion pertained to school buses using School House Alley as an exit when leaving the LaCroft building.

A group of township residents who attended the meeting reported that the safety of the children who use the alley is of concern.

The possibility of widening the alley was discussed. Trustees reported that the safety situation has been reviewed with the transportation department of the board of education.

3 Key Items Get Attention Of Trustees

Road programs, speeding drivers and children's safety were discussed during Friday night's meeting of Liverpool Township trustees.

It was announced that road oiling and chipping will get under way shortly.

A major discussion pertained to school buses using School House Alley as an exit when leaving the LaCroft building.

A group of township residents who attended the meeting reported that the safety of the children who use the alley is of concern.

The possibility of widening the alley was discussed. Trustees reported that the safety situation has been reviewed with the transportation department of the board of education.

School zone signs are being considered by the board, with the constables enforcing the 20-mile speed limit.

Discussions also pertained to speeding in sections of the township.

PTA President Speaks On Need Of Social Reform

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "The time we have left for social reform is running out." Mrs. Irvin E. Hendryson, president of the National PTA, said today.

In her keynote address prepared for the opening business session of the 73rd annual PTA convention, Mrs. Hendrvson said:

"Among the poor, the disadvantaged, the powerless, the young, there is furiously mounting impatience with the slowness of social change. And among the older, the more advantaged, the more powerful, there is escalating impatience with (their) impatience. . . .

"The disruptions and disorders in our schools and colleges are both racial and generational," said Mrs. Hendryson. "Parents and teachers increasingly distrust each other. The formerly powerless — the poor, the black, the young, the teachers, the parents—all want a bigger piece of power."

Delegates were asked to consider a proposed resolution on sex education in the schools. The resolution—one of eight to be voted on Wednesday—would urge school staff members to work with advisory committees "in developing their own school programs of sex education."

The executive committee proposal said some groups, not identified, "are engaged in a nationwide campaign of unsubstantiated accusations as to what is being done in this important field of learning."

Are you one of those who believe that eating Fat makes you fat?

Well, some experts think otherwise. They suggest that a Fat-free diet may even cause obesity.

Fat, an important fuel food, quickly converts into body-energy. It provides stamina to keep you active . . . and by keeping active you burn up the fat that the body manufactures from starches and proteins.

The American Medical Association has warned against eliminating Fats from the diet without medical supervision, as " . . . it could even be dangerous to try."

There is no danger, however, that you will ever be less than satisfied when you try CITIZENS' services . . . Prompt Prescription Handling . . . Free Rx Delivery . . . Convalescent Aids . . . PTA President Speaks On Need Of Social Reform

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "The time we have left for social reform is running out." Mrs. Irvin E. Hendryson, president of the National PTA, said today.

In her keynote address prepared for the opening business session of the 73rd annual PTA convention, Mrs. Hendryson said:

"Among the poor, the disadvantaged, the powerless, the young, there is furiously mounting impatience with the slowness of social change. And among the older, the more advantaged, the more powerful, there is escalating impatience with (their) impatience. . . .

"The disruptions and disorders in our schools and colleges are both racial and generational," said Mrs. Hendryson. "Parents and teachers increasingly distrust each other. The formerly powerless — the poor, the black, the young, the teachers, the parents—all want a bigger piece of power."

Delegates were asked to consider a proposed resolution on sex education in the schools. The resolution—one of eight to be voted on Wednesday—would urge school staff members to work with advisory committees "in developing their own school programs of sex education."

The executive committee proposal said some groups, not identified, "are engaged in a nationwide campaign of unsubstantiated accusations as to what is being done in this important field of learning."

Well, some experts think otherwise. They suggest that a Fat-free diet may even cause obesity.

Fat, an important fuel food, quickly converts into body-energy. It provides stamina to keep you active . . . and by keeping active you burn up the fat that the body manufactures from starches and proteins.

The American Medical Association has warned against eliminating Fats from the diet without medical supervision, as " . . . it could even be dangerous to try."

Hearings Set In Assault Upon Officer

An area woman and a teenaged girl face hearings as a result of an alleged attack on a Wellsville patrolman Saturday as he attempted to arrest a suspected auto thief.

Police Chief John Hephner said the incident occurred when Patrolman Charles Amato was sent to the home of Charles Robert Powell of West Point with a warrant for his arrest.

Chief Hephner said the officer was attacked by Powell, Alice Powell and a 15-year-old girl.

Hephner said Powell first came at Amato with a piece of wood but dropped it. Following a chase around the area, Powell picked up a brick and hit the officer between the eyes, Chief Hephner said.

Alice Powell has been charged with interferring, hindering and delaying a police officer, assault and battery and disorderly conduct. She is free on $400 bail awaiting a hearing before Mayor William Daugherty Wednesday.

The girl, reportedly Powells' girlfriend, was taken to Lisbon where she will go before Judge Lewis Tobin lated today.

Chief Hephner said Powell was driving a 1966 pickup truck, reported stolen from a Hopewell Township resident, with license plates reportedly stolen from Pomeroy, Ohio.

Chief Hephner said that two stitches were required to close the wound on Amatos' head, but the officer brought Powell in and jailed him before receiving treatment.

moon— duplicating the feat performed for the first time during the Christmastime flight of Apollo 8.

But Thursday morning at 10:30 a.m., if everything goes right, Stafford and Cernan will crawl through the nose of their spacecraft into the lunar lander

Three hours later, Stafford and Cernan will cut the spider-like craft from the mother ship and dip down to within 9.3 miles of the moon's surface in man's closest approach to another celestial body.

Looking for any moon barriers that could prove dangerous, the'll sweep near one of the stes where an American may walk in nine weeks.

Young, the command module pilot, will fly Apollo 10 alone, ready to come to the LEM's rescue should it be required.

Then—after some eight hours of separation—the two ships perform an intricate space ballet that allows them to rejoin. Once Stafford and Cernan crawl back into the mother ship again, a signal across a quarter million miles of space will fire the LEM engine for the last time—into voyage around the sun.

The three astronauts are scheduled to splash down in the Pacific a week from today—after eight days and five minutes on their voyage to the moon and back. They'll spend 2½ days of that time circling the moon.

Sunken Submarine Raised From River

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP) — The $50 million nuclear submarine Guittaro was raised from the muddy bottom of the Napa River here Sunday.

The 4,640-ton vessel, which sank mysteriously Thursday during outfitting, was refloated at Mare Island Naval Shipyard Sunday with no stability problems.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Dryers Dry 'Em Right

DEAR FOLKS: Here are some good tips about using clothes dryers that a leading manufacturer was kind enough to tell us:

Heloise

"Dryers are perhaps the least understood of all household appliances.

"Dryers restore the natural nap of a fabric. Corduroy, velveteen, terrycloth look and feel like new only if tumbled dry.

"They relax wear and care wrinkles in the multitude of "no-iron" garments available for purchase — not only perma-type press, but also the chemical man-made fibers and the garments with wrinkle-resistant finishes.

"Fabrics get no warmer in a dryer than they would inside your car parked in the sun on a summer's day.

"The knowledgeable shopper can eliminate a lot of ironing by choosng fabrics wisely at point of sale.

"If you use coin-operated laundries, choose those with multi-load dryers that have varying temperature controls. Choose the lowest setting for chemical man-made fibers, medium for perma-type press and other wrinkle-resistant cotton finishes.

"Garments that iron themselves in the dryer should be removed and folded or put on hangers IMMEDIATELY after tumbling stops.

"Because of its natural moisture content, cotton should be removed from the dryer while it STILL contains a hint of moisture. Overdried cottons have a dry, harsh, unpleasant feel.

"Items which should NOT be tumbled dry with heat are those containing rubber or foam rubber, bath mats and rugs containing modacrylic, shower curtains and other plastics, woolens labeled "handwash" and "glass fiber."

Folks, aren't clothes dryers fantabulous things? Do remember all this valuable infor when using your dryer.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: During the time of antiquing everything from A to Z, my husband and I have found nylon net excellent for removing the glaze.

We rub the piece to be finished with the net until we have removed just the right amount.

We also use it on newly varnished pieces to produce a rubbed effect even on satin varnish.

It is more effective than sandpaper and not nearly as hard on the hands.

A.W.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: I recall that one of the readers suggested distinguishing two pairs of scissors in her sewing basket by tying a red ribbon to one and a purple ribbon on the other.

This reminds me of the door in the mansion at Mt. Vernon that has a big hole to let the cat out and a small one for the kittens.

HENRY.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have wall paneling in your home and you get a scratch or two on it, they can usually be covered up by the same method used for furniture.

Just rub some broken walnut meat over the scratch. Or use a bit of furniture polish that contains stain, wiping it off immediatly after application.

I have mahogany paneling in my den and these methods work great for me.

SUZAN.

-:-

They both work, folks. So does pecan meat.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When making bacon, lettuce, and tomato sandwiches, I broil the bacon until it is crisp, then crumble it. Mix it with mayonnaise and put it in the refrigerator for an hour or so.

The mayonnaise absorbs the bacon flavor and we get some of the bacon taste in every bite of the sandwich.

For the children, I chop up the tomatoes and lettuce, too, and mix it all together. It's much easier for the children to handle.

MARIE BENNETT.

DEAR HELOISE: I glue paper plates to the bottom of my cans of paint to catch the drippings and save a clean up.

Hearings Set In Assault Upon Officer

An area woman and a teenaged girl face hearings as a result of an alleged attack on a Wellsville patrolman Saturday as he attempted to arrest a suspected auto thief.

Police Chief John Hephner said the incident occurred when Patrolman Charles Amato was sent to the home of Charles Robert Powell of West Point with a warrant for his arrest.

Chief Hephner said the officer was attacked by Powell, Alice Powell and a 15-year-old girl.

Hephner said Powell first came at Amato with a piece of wood but dropped it. Following a chase around the area, Powell picked up a brick and hit the officer between the eyes, Chief Hephner said.

Alice Powell has been charged with interferring, hindering and delaying a police officer, assault and battery and disorderly conduct. She is free on $400 bail awaiting a hearing before Mayor William Daugherty Wednesday.

The girl, reportedly Powells' girlfriend, was taken to Lisbon where she will go before Judge Lewis Tobin lated today.

Chief Hephner said Powell was driving a 1966 pickup truck, reported stolen from a Hopewell Township resident, with license plates reportedly stolen from Pomeroy, Ohio.

Chief Hephner said that two stitches were required to close the wound on Amatos' head, but the officer brought Powell in and jailed him before receiving treatment.

Man To Face Examination

LISBON — Albert G. Crissman, 42, of 245 Wells Ave., Wellsville, will be taken to Lima State Hospital for an examination before being sentenced in Common Pleas Court for conviction of incest and carnal knowledge of a female under 16.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard ordered the committal this morning after overruling the defendant's motion for a new trial.

Crissman was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

The salesman was twice convicted by Common Pleas Court juries — on May 3 last year and, after the court sustained his motion for a new trial, again on Nov. 27. Crissman has been free on bond while his motion for a new trial was under consideration.

The court claimed the offense occurred March 2, 1967, at Crissman's former residence on Coal Hollow Rd. near Wellsville when the girl was 14. Crissman and his wife testified at the trials that they were away from home together at the time.

CHESTER firemen were in the group which resumed dragging this morning. Alton Johnston of the Chester department said the men dragged Saturday and Sunday, aided last night by Lawrenceville firemen. CD members also were on the scene.

Private boaters aided in the hunt Sunday and one man dived into the water twice to make searches.

John Williams, 15, son of Mrs. Mattie Williams of 1053 Mapletree St., one of Larry's companions, attempted to save him when he floundered in the water.

Williams told authorities the two were about halfway between the shore and the island when Larry began to shout for help. Williams said he thought at first that Larry was joking. Larry started swimming back toward the Ohio shore, he said.

Williams went to assist his friend, but Parsons apparently became panicky and fought with him, authorities said.

moon— duplicating the feat performed for the first time during the Christmastime flight of Apollo 8.

But Thursday morning at 10:30 a.m., if everything goes right, Stafford and Cernan will crawl through the nose of their spacecraft into the lunar lander

Three hours later, Stafford and Cernan will cut the spider-like craft from the mother ship and dip down to within 9.3 miles of the moon's surface in man's closest approach to another celestial body.

Looking for any moon barriers that could prove dangerous, the'll sweep near one of the stes where an American may walk in nine weeks.

Young, the command module pilot, will fly Apollo 10 alone, ready to come to the LEM's rescue should it be required.

Then—after some eight hours of separation—the two ships perform an intricate space ballet that allows them to rejoin. Once Stafford and Cernan crawl back into the mother ship again, a signal across a quarter million miles of space will fire the LEM engine for the last time—into voyage around the sun.

The three astronauts are scheduled to splash down in the Pacific a week from today—after eight days and five minutes on their voyage to the moon and back. They'll spend 2½ days of that time circling the moon.

Woman Cited As Car Stalls On Rail Track

A 24-year-old woman driver was cited on two charges early Sunday after her auto veered off the Virginia Ave. railroad crossing and stalled on the Penn Central tracks, police reported.

Mrs. Rebecca Grimes of RD 3 in the state line area was charged with driving left of center and failure to display a license after the incident at 1:20 yesterday. She escaped injury, but the oil pan underneath the crankcase of her auto was damaged, officers said.

The woman told Patrolman Joseph Bates she was driving east on Virginia Ave. about 25 miles an hour. She said she thought the street made a sharp left turn at the crossing and when she made the turn her car wound up straddling the railroad rails.

The second crash in the same area, timed at 7:20 p.m., involved a 1962 four-door sedan driven by Jerald C. Williams, 33, of 803 Lisbon St. and a 1962 two-door sedan operated by Darlene Ann Watson of Burgettstown RD 3.

Williams told officers he was in the lane nearest the curb on W. 5th and was attempting a right-hand turn onto Market St. when the other driver also started a right turn from the adjoining lane.

The mishap damaged the left front of Williams' car and the right quarter panel of the Watson auto.

Despite Deferment Removal

Many Graduate Students Still Escaping Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of college graduate students being drafted this year is running far below estimates, even though deferments for diploma holders were abolished more than a year ago.

At the same time, graduate schools report a big slow-down in enrollment. Nobody knows whether the missing students were drafted, went to industry for occupational deferments, or stayed home to wait for "Greetings."

The National Security Council recomended lifting deferments in February 1968 for all graduate study except medicine and the ministry.

Critics of the move predicted a draft of 450,000 college graduates including 175,000 grad students. The more conservative Pentagon estimates were for a draft of 100,000 college graduates, including 58,000 would-be grad students in fiscal 1969.

When the fiscal year ends in June the total will probably reach no more than 35,000.

How many of these soldier-scholars were or would have been in graduate school is unknown. Asked the number of draftees with graduate credits a Pentagon spokesman replied "That would be a major research project. We just can't do it."

The elimination of graduate deferments was meant to stop students from "pyramiding" one deferment on top of another and thus staying out of the draft pool indefinitely.

Something apparently has not gone according to plan. Manpower experts both inside and outside government suggest various explanations.

All agree that an important factor was draft director Lewis B. Hershey's instruction to allow postponements of induction until the end of a school term.

Draft boards could have been inordinately slow to reclassify students, and many students may have appealed the reclassifications, creating additional delay.

Experts also believe many students have obtained occupational deferments—either as teaching assistants in the schools where they study, or by quitting school for private industry.

The U.S. Office of Education reports that enrollments in graduate schools it surveyed rose only one per cent last fall, compared with an average 12 per cent in previous years.

That would mean an apparent loss of up to 20,000 graduate students. But the Office of Education can only guess, like everyone else, where they are.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Dryers Dry 'Em Right

DEAR FOLKS: Here are some good tips about using clothes dryers that a leading manufacturer was kind enough to tell us:

Heloise

"Dryers are perhaps the least understood of all household appliances.

"Dryers restore the natural nap of a fabric. Corduroy, velveteen, terrycloth look and feel like new only if tumbled dry.

"They relax wear and care wrinkles in the multitude of "no-iron" garments available for purchase — not only permatype press, but also the chemical man-made fibers and the garments with wrinkle-resistant finishes.

"Fabrics get no warmer in a dryer than they would inside your car parked in the sun on a summer's day.

"The knowledgeable shopper can eliminate a lot of ironing by choosng fabrics wisely at point of sale.

"If you use coin-operated laundries, choose those with multi-load dryers that have varying temperature controls. Choose the lowest setting for chemical man-made fibers, medium for perma-type press and other wrinkle-resistant cotton finishes.

"Garments that iron themselves in the dryer should be removed and folded or put on hangers IMMEDIATELY after tumbling stops.

"Because of its natural moisture content, cotton should be removed from the dryer while it STILL contains a hint of moisture. Overdried cottons have a dry, harsh, unpleasant feel.

"Items which should NOT be tumbled dry with heat are those containing rubber or foam rubber, bath mats and rugs containing modacrylic, shower curtains and other plastics, woolens labeled "handwash" and "glass fiber."

Folks, aren't clothes dryers fantabulous things? Do remember all this valuable infor when using your dryer.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: During the time of antiquing everything from A to Z, my husband and I have found nylon net excellent for removing the glaze.

We rub the piece to be finished with the net until we have removed just the right amount.

We also use it on newly varnished pieces to produce a rubbed effect even on satin varnish.

It is more effective than sandpaper and not nearly as hard on the hands.

A.W.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: I recall that one of the readers suggested distinguishing two pairs of scissors in her sewing basket by tying a red ribbon to one and a purple ribbon on the other.

This reminds me of the door in the mansion at Mt. Vernon that has a big hole to let the cat out and a small one for the kittens.

HENRY.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have wall paneling in your home and you get a scratch or two on it, they can usually be covered up by the same method used for furniture.

Just rub some broken walnut meat over the scratch. Or use a bit of furniture polish that contains stain, wiping it off immediatly after application.

I have mahogany paneling in my den and these methods work great for me.

SUZAN.

-:-

They both work, folks. So does pecan meat.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When making bacon, lettuce, and tomato sandwiches, I broil the bacon until it is crisp, then crumble it. Mix it with mayonnaise and put it in the refrigerator for an hour or so.

The mayonnaise absorbs the bacon flavor and we get some of the bacon taste in every bite of the sandwich.

For the children, I chop up the tomatoes and lettuce, too, and mix it all together. It's much easier for the children to handle.

MARIE BENNETT.

DEAR HELOISE: I glue paper plates to the bottom of my cans of paint to catch the drippings and save a clean up.

Ohio Assembly Eyes Adjournment

Legislative 'Countdown'

By JOHN R. THOMAS
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The countdown for the somewhat laggard 108th Ohio General Assembly has begun.

More than two-thirds of the way through the first term of the two-term session, legislators have but two months to put the finishing touches on several important bills — if you can believe the semiofficial mid-July adjournment talk.

That's plenty of time. Many states don't pay their legislators for meeting longer than 60 days every year, and the affairs of the state in those areas seem to get resolved in that amount of time.

-:-

IN THE FINAL ANALYSIS, the question of time becomes insignificant when weighed against the will of the legislature. That will is not defined easily, and almost any conclusion can be refuted by fact.

But, as House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-Perrysburg, said, "The edge is off. We're taking our lead from Nixon and Congress. The people would like to be left alone for awhile."

His statement appears particularly telling in the area of taxes. The administration unsuccessfully tried to convince the legislators there was a need for taxes and the people knew it. The legislators knew the feelings of the people better.

THE ADMINISTRATION dropped its package; the House leadership came up with $110 million to salvage the administration's technical education proposals. Scratch one problem.

Other legislative matters are not going to be solved so easily. Fluoridation, abortion and Sunday liquor sales are but three areas of emotion-charged legislative concern that have been floundering for lack of both leadership and public support.

1-14 — Fluoridation

Fluoridation has cleared the first legislative hurdle by being reported out to the Senate Rules Committee last week. Where it goes from there is anybody's guess, but since Gov. James A. Rhodes' son-in-law is on the committee pushing statewide fluoridation by 1972, a floor vote might be expected before too long.

While State Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-Ironton, chairman of the committee which heard testimony and sponsor of the fluoridation bill, claims he was confident all along that the bill would be reported out of committee, the feeling was that the measure would be killed there, or at least shuttled off to subcommittee for a less offensive demise.

BUT, IN a surprise move, he called up the bill, when he spied the six votes he needed to get it out our of his committee. A seventh vote later was for it by State Sen. Tennyson Guyer, R-Findlay, who was conspicuous by his absence at the time of the balloting.

While one opponent was scratching his head, trying to figure out why the bill had made it through committee, another was checking the occupation of the members.

Well, two of the members who are in public and higher education for a living cast votes for the bill after having been considered, at the least, in the probable against column.

Remember, Collins rules the Education, Health and Welfare Committee with an iron fist, and his lack of support can mean instant death for any bill. Of course, the two members who are involved in education for a living have several bills pending before Collins' committee.

Abortion

The bill to liberalize the state's abortion laws has been stalled in subcommittee for several weeks now, and the prospects are not bright that it ever will get any further than that.

Reportedly, the subcommittee held an informal meeting, brought up the subject of abortion, looked over the stack of mail against the measure and decided the wrath of the "antis" lobby was not worth it.

-:-

STILL, the same committee — Health and Welfare — reported out the same bill two years ago but it died in Rules.

Why the reluctance to report a bill out this year?

There simply is too much opposition to it. A veteran House post office worker said mail generated by the abortion issue is unprecedented, and the overwhelming majority of it is anti.

Sunday Liquor

As for Sunday liquor sales, there are several proposals pending, but hearings have not been scheduled. There is support, some say, from big city legislators for Sunday sales. They base their feelings on the belief that Sunday liquor would improve convention business.

It might, but small tavern owners and many big drinking establishments aren't exactly anxious about Sunday liquor. Particularly in the smaller communities, there is opposition to the proposal.

They fear the result of such a law would be a drying up of all establishments by voters who feel that Sunday liquor sales do nothing to enhance the quality of their home towns.

-:-

THERE ARE OTHER bills which are equally significant, but where hopes of passage are also equally dim.

Just because time is drawing close for adjournment doesn't mean there will be a flurry of activity. There might be, but time really has nothing to do with the legislative process.

It all boils down to will.

Time's Slipping Away—1—14

If Gov. Rhodes is serious about placing an amendment to the constitution to create a housing authority to issue $500 million in revenue bonds to finance housing repair and construction in the cities on the November ballot, he'd do well to remember that time is drawing close for adjournment.

Kurfess claims he's received no word about it from the governor.

"You'd think he'd have it (the bill) up here by now," Kurfess said.

Duplication

State Department of Duplication: A commission which studied a commission made its report on the cities' accrued liability to the state police and fire pension fund last week.

In January, the Legsilative Service Commission (LSC) made a study of the subject, and issued an attractive report on its findings and recommendations.

Last week, the Ohio Retirement Study Commission, noting it had based its deliberations on the LSC report, issued an attractive report on its findings and recommendations.

Yep, you guessed it. Both commissions recommended the same things.

Americans today have exceeded by far the ideas expressed by Sir Thomas More in his immortal "Utopia," published in 1516. At that time More expressed as "ideal" for man a nine-hour working day and a 60-hour working week.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I remove paint spatters from linoleum or hardwood floors?

A. You can accomplish this with a fine grade of steel wool, even after the paint has partially hardened. Use a light pressure and short strokes, just enough to cover the affected area without dulling the finish of the surrounding area more than necessary. Then wax and polish the spot.

Q. — How can I remove the odor and flavor of onions from my cooking vessels?

A. — By rubbing with celery leaves.

Woman Cited As Car Stalls On Rail Track

A 24-year-old woman driver was cited on two charges early Sunday after her auto veered off the Virginia Ave. railroad crossing and stalled on the Penn Central tracks, police reported.

Mrs. Rebecca Grimes of RD 3 in the state line area was charged with driving left of center and failure to display a license after the incident at 1:20 yesterday. She escaped injury, but the oil pan underneath the crankcase of her auto was damaged, officers said.

The woman told Patrolman Joseph Bates she was driving east on Virginia Ave. about 25 miles an hour. She said she thought the street made a sharp left turn at the crossing and when she made the turn her car wound up straddling the railroad rails.

OFFICERS listed two minor collisions near 5th and Market Sts. Saturday.

The first, time at 3:55 p.m., involved a 1966 two-door hardtop driven by Rose Lena Mase, 58, of 700 Broadway, Wellsville, and a 1962 two-door sedan operated by Ruth Joan Davisson, 36, of Echo Dr., Wellsville RD 1.

Mrs. Mase said she was pulling from a parking place on E. 5th at Market. Mrs. Davisson said sshe was traveling west about 10 miles an hour. There was damage to the left front bumper of the Mase auto and the right side of the Davisson car.

The second crash in the same area, timed at 7:20 p.m., involved a 1962 four-door sedan driven by Jerald C. Williams, 33, of 803 Lisbon St. and a 1962 two-door sedan operated by Darlene Ann Watson of Burgettstown RD 3.

Williams told officers he was in the lane nearest the curb on W. 5th and was attempting a right-hand turn onto Market St. when the other driver also started a right turn from the adjoining lane.

The mishap damaged the left front of Williams' car and the right quarter panel of the Watson auto.

A PARKED auto was damaged in a mishap Saturday at 10:50 a.m. on Union St. near E. 4th St.

The parked 1963 sedan owned by Rodney Stull of 1022 Bank St. was struck on the left rear fender by a 1959 model convertible operated by Norman E. Ward, 28, of 1923 Smithfield St., officers said.

Ward told officers he pulled out of the lot at an auto parts store and started south on Union St. He said he hit the Stull auto because his car did not have a reverse gear. Stull's car was pakred on the west side of Union St. Ward was cited on a charge of failure to transfer registration within 10 days after purchasing an auto.

Police also received a report Saturday on a mishap Friday night in which a parked car drifted and hit a fence.

Russell Cunningham of 408 Morton St. told officers he parked his auto about 9 p.m. Friday in front of his home. He said the auto drifted and hit a fence at 406 Morton St., damaging about 10 feet of the fence. The auto was undamaged.

Passenger Injured As Car Leaves Road

A Wellsville youth was injured in an accident on Route 45, north of Wellsville, Sunday at 4:45 p.m.

Paul Martin, 18, of Diamond St., a passenger in a car operated by Richard C. Zungali, 18, of 1203 Center St., Wellsville, said he would see his family physician.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Zungali was northbound in his 1963 sedan when it went off the right side of the road and struck an embankment.

Despite Deferment Removal

Many Graduate Students Still Escaping Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of college graduate students being drafted this year is running far below estimates, even though deferments for diploma holders were abolished more than a year ago.

At the same time, graduate schools report a big slow-down in enrollment. Nobody knows whether the missing students were drafted, went to industry for occupational deferments, or stayed home to wait for "Greetings."

The National Security Council recomended lifting deferments in February 1968 for all graduate study except medicine and the ministry.

Critics of the move predicted a draft of 450,000 college graduates including 175,000 grad students. The more conservative Pentagon estimates were for a draft of 100,000 college graduates, including 58,000 would-be grad students in fiscal 1969.

When the fiscal year ends in June the total will probably reach no more than 35,000.

How many of these soldier-scholars were or would have been in graduate school is unknown. Asked the number of draftees with graduate credits a Pentagon spokesman replied "That would be a major research project. We just can't do it."

The elimination of graduate deferments was meant to stop students from "pyramiding" one deferment on top of another and thus staying out of the draft pool indefinitely.

Something apparently has not gone according to plan. Manpower experts both inside and outside government suggest various explanations.

All agree that an important factor was draft director Lewis B. Hershey's instruction to allow postponements of induction until the end of a school term.

Draft boards could have been inordinately slow to reclassify students, and many students may have appealed the reclassifications, creating additional delay.

Experts also believe many students have obtained occupational deferments—either as teaching assistants in the schools where they study, or by quitting school for private industry.

The U.S. Office of Education reports that enrollments in graduate schools it surveyed rose only one per cent last fall, compared with an average 12 per cent in previous years.

That would mean an apparent loss of up to 20,000 graduate students. But the Office of Education can only guess, like everyone else, where they are.

Salary Discussion Set At Board Session

LISBON — The Columbiana County board of education has reserved time during its monthly meeting at 8:30 tonight for William Oliver of Steubenville, field representative for the Ohio Education Association.

He wrote to the board last month requesting a meeting "concerning the salary increase granted Lorin Ruff." Ruff is elementary supervisor for the county school system.

In granting raises last December, the board raised Ruff's salary $700, compared with a $1,000 increase for the high school supervisor and the school psychologist.

Bids Awaited At Lisbon On Addition To Library

LISBON — The board of trustees of Lepper Library will take bids until June 18 for a two-story addition, including a garage for the Columbiana County Bookmobile.

Trustees say funds are on hand for the $50,000 project, which will include new lighting, bookshelves and furniture for the present library which Mrs. Virginia Cornwell Lepper presented to the community in 1897 as a memorial to her husband, Charles W. Lepper.

The library faces E. Lincoln Way at Vine St., two blocks east of the Square. The 2,000-square-foot addition to the rear will fact Vine and will be built on a concrete slab with a blacktop driveway from the garage to Vine St.

The new structure will provide storage and work space on the ground floor and an adult reading room on the upper floor opening into the existing reading room and book stacks.

Both the old and new sections are to be air-conditioned. Plans were drawn by Jack K. Vogel of Wellsville.

Trustees say the expansion program is the first since the library was built. The library distributes about 3,500 books and periodicals monthly, while the bookmobile loans about 10,000 per month.

Drinking Causes Home Accidents

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Ohio Assembly Eyes Adjournment

Legislative 'Countdown'

By JOHN R. THOMAS
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The countdown for the somewhat laggard 108th Ohio General Assembly has begun.

More than two-thirds of the way through the first term of the two-term session, legislators have but two months to put the finishing touches on several important bills — if you can believe the semiofficial mid-July adjournment talk.

That's plenty of time. Many states don't pay their legislators for meeting longer than 60 days every year, and the affairs of the state in those areas seem to get resolved in that amount of time.

-:-

IN THE FINAL ANALYSIS, the question of time becomes insignificant when weighed against the will of the legislature. That will is not defined easily, and almost any conclusion can be refuted by fact.

But, as House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-Perrysburg, said, "The edge is off. We're taking our lead from Nixon and Congress. The people would like to be left alone for awhile."

His statement appears particularly telling in the area of taxes. The administration unsuccessfully tried to convince the legislators there was a need for taxes and the people knew it. The legislators knew the feelings of the people better.

THE ADMINISTRATION dropped its package; the House leadership came up with $110 million to salvage the administration's technical education proposals. Scratch one problem.

Other legislative matters are not going to be solved so easily. Fluoridation, abortion and Sunday liquor sales are but three areas of emotion-charged legislative concern that have been floundering for lack of both leadership and public support.

1-14 — Fluoridation

Fluoridation has cleared the first legislative hurdle by being reported out to the Senate Rules Committee last week. Where it goes from there is anybody's guess, but since Gov. James A. Rhodes' son-in-law is on the committee pushing statewide fluoridation by 1972, a floor vote might be expected before too long.

While State Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-Ironton, chairman of the committee which heard testimony and sponsor of the fluoridation bill, claims he was confident all along that the bill would be reported out of committee, the feeling was that the measure would be killed there, or at least shuttled off to subcommittee for a less offensive demise.

BUT, IN a surprise move, he called up the bill, when he spied the six votes he needed to get it out our of his committee. A seventh vote later was for it by State Sen. Tennyson Guyer, R-Findlay, who was conspicuous by his absence at the time of the balloting.

While one opponent was scratching his head, trying to figure out why the bill had made it through committee, another was checking the occupation of the members.

Well, two of the members who are in public and higher education for a living cast votes for the bill after having been considered, at the least, in the probable against column.

Remember, Collins rules the Education, Health and Welfare Committee with an iron fist, and his lack of support can mean instant death for any bill. Of course, the two members who are involved in education for a living have several bills pending before Collins' committee.

Abortion

The bill to liberalize the state's abortion laws has been stalled in subcommittee for several weeks now, and the prospects are not bright that it ever will get any further than that.

Reportedly, the subcommittee held an informal meeting, brought up the subject of abortion, looked over the stack of mail against the measure and decided the wrath of the "antis" lobby was not worth it.

-:-

STILL, the same committee — Health and Welfare — reported out the same bill two years ago but it died in Rules.

Why the reluctance to report a bill out this year?

There simply is too much opposition to it. A veteran House post office worker said mail generated by the abortion issue is unprecedented, and the overwhelming majority of it is anti.

Sunday Liquor

As for Sunday liquor sales, there are several proposals pending, but hearings have not been scheduled. There is support, some say, from big city legislators for Sunday sales. They base their feelings on the belief that Sunday liquor would improve convention business.

It might, but small tavern owners and many big drinking establishments aren't exactly anxious about Sunday liquor. Particularly in the smaller communities, there is opposition to the proposal.

They fear the result of such a law would be a drying up of all establishments by voters who feel that Sunday liquor sales do nothing to enhance the quality of their home towns.

-:-

THERE ARE OTHER bills which are equally significant, but where hopes of passage are also equally dim.

Just because time is drawing close for adjournent doesn't mean there will be a flurry of activity. There might be, but time really has nothing to do with the legislative process.

It all boils down to will.

Time's Slipping Away—1—14

If Gov. Rhodes is serious about placing an amendment to the constitution to create a housing authority to issue $500 million in revenue bonds to finance housing repair and construction in the cities on the November ballot, he'd do well to remember that time is drawing close for adjournment.

Kurfess claims he's received no word about it from the governor.

"You'd think he'd have it (the bill) up here by now," Kurfess said.

Duplication

State Department of Duplication: A commission which studied a commission made its report on the cities' accrued liability to the state police and fire pension fund last week.

In January, the Legsilative Service Commission (LSC) made a study of the subject, and issued an attractive report on its findings and recommendations.

Last week, the Ohio Retirement Study Commission, noting it had based its deliberations on the LSC report, issued an attractive report on its findings and recommendations.

Yep, you guessed it. Both commissions recommended the same things.

Americans today have exceeded by far the ideas expressed by Sir Thomas More in his immortal "Utopia," published in 1516. At that time More expressed as "ideal" for man a nine-hour working day and a 60-hour working week.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I remove paint spatters from linoleum or hardwood floors?

A. You can accomplish this with a fine grade of steel wool, even after the paint has partially hardened. Use a light pressure and short strokes, just enough to cover the affected area without dulling the finish of the surrounding area more than necessary. Then wax and polish the spot.

Q. — How can I remove the odor and flavor of onions from my cooking vessels?

A. — By rubbing with celery leaves.

Drinking Causes Home Accidents

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Drinking, long recognized as a factor in highway accidents, is dangerous in the home, too. An insurance study found that 15 per cent of men and 10 per cent of women fatally injured in home accidents had been drinking.

The sun is so hot that one pound of it releases enough power to fuel all the burners on a kitchen stove for hundreds of years.

Psychiatrists say the doodling you do while talking or listening over the telephone reveals your character. If you draw birds and animals, you are understanding and affectionate. Flowers and trees indicate loneliness, boats a desire for freedom, circles daydreaming. Squares and checkerboards show logic and emotional stability. Arrows indicate high goals and staircases lofty ambitions.

What is your sleeping posture? Two German doctors say you are less likely to have respiratory ailments if you sleep habitually on your tummy instead of your back. But if the mattress is too soft, they warn, you may wind up with spinal trouble.

Quotable notables: "Everybody is overworked. Now the main occupation of the educated man is not his job, but helping his wife at home."—Margaret Mead.

An export-import firm was started recently by receiving an order for 12 million trombones. Its puzzlement ended when a clerk in the shipping department, a language student, recalled that trombone is the french word for a paper clip.

You can tell your girl what you think of her by the flowers you send her. The hyacinth traditionally stands for jealousy, the peony for anger, the marigold cruelty, the larkspur fickleness. Both morning glories and dandelions symbolize coquetry.

Capitalizing on the psychiatric theory that it is bad to repress your emotions, Lester B. Dill, operator of Meramec Caverns in Missouri, has opened a "screaming room" in his gigantic cave. Tourists are invited to yell and holler in it to their heart's content.

Optimists who believe that the human race will never be destroyed are hardly consoled by a hard scientific fact: more than 90 per cent of all the species of life that have dwelt upon the earth are now extinct, leaving only fossil traces of their existence.

American corporation salaries pale in comparison to the compensation received by the Emir of Kuwait, the tiny oil-rich Arab sheikdom at the head of the Persian Gulf. As head of state, he is paid $28 million a year, but philanthropically returns a fifth of the amount to the government.

ANN LANDERS

Try A 'Squareburger'

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to Sad Eyes made my 10-year-old cry.

How could you be so heartless as to suggest that "Sweetie," a 9-year-old dog who had been a family pet since puppyhood, be given away? Just because a dog ruins a few carpets is no excuse to break a child's heart.

And do you know what this would do to Sweetie? He would surely die of loneliness. Please change your advice before you are deluged with letters from people who'll take your hide off.—WYOMING.

Dear Wy: It's too late. The deluge has started. And the readers are against me 100 to 1. Read on:

—:—

War Declared

Dear Ann: Your advice that an indoor dog be given to a farmer is typical of the dumb things city people come up with. Farms already are overrun with dog owners who don't know the first thing about animals.

I disagree that a 9-year-old dog cannot be housebroken. Perhaps not in his customary surroundings, but I'll bet if they build a doghouse and enforce some new rules, Sweetie could be taught to mind his manners. —MRS. G.H.G.

Dear Ann: I'm 10 years old. I have a dog. When he wets on my mother's carpet I take some paper towels and blot it up. I sue my foot. Then I pour white vinegar on the spot. It fixes everything.—DOG LOVER.

-:-

Dear Ann: Our family refuses to believe that you consider wall-to-wall carpeting more important than a child's love for his dog. We have antique Oriental rugs in our home and the spots made by our nervous little poodle and our lazy golden retriever has added character to these priceless floor coverings. Shame on you, Ann!—PITTSBURGH.

-:-

Dear Ann: Your suggestion that a dog who has been a house pet for six years be given to a farmer was not a humane solution. To ask an aged dog to adjust to new people and new environment is unreasonable. It would be much better for the dog if they put him to sleep.—M.Y. OF WILLIAMSPORT.

Another Blockbuster

Dear Ann: Are you on vacation? Please come back. I can't believe you gave that stupid answer.

So the dog did a few things on the rug. So what? The notion that it is perfectly okay to get rid of anything that presents a challenge is exactly what's wrong with society today.

If you don't like school you drop out. If you don't like marriage you bust it up. If you don't like a job you quit. And now Ann Landers comes along and says it you can't housebreak your mutt give him to a farmer. Think it over, Toots!—WINNIPEG.

-:-

Dear Winnie: I HAVE thought it over and the next time I get a letter asking for advice about a dog I'm going to consult people who have dogs. Rugs I know something about but I'm no authority on dogs and my answer proved it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

On The TV Beat

By Cecil Smith

And Now, The Real Charlie Brown

SEBASTAPOL, Calif. — The road to Coffee Grounds winds north of San Francisco's Golden Gate through apple orchards that make sweet the air. A sign on the gate at Coffee Grounds says: "Uninvited Guests Not Welcome. "Sparky put that up to keep me out," said Lee Mendelson.

Cecil Smith

Six years ago producer Mendelson drove to the magnificent 28-acre estate called Coffee Grounds to do a television profile of its waggish owner, Charles M. (Sparky) Schulz, creator of the cartoon empire of Charlie Brown.

-:-

NO NETWORK was interested in a study of Schulz, but out of the project came the fantastically successful series of Charlie Brown television specials, produced by Mendelson and his animator partner, Bill Melendez.

Now, after six years, the show Mendelson went there to make finally will reach the air next Saturday night on CBS (8:30, Channel 8), "Charlie Brown and Charles Schultz." The documentary show not only deals with the artist and the comic strip that avidly is followed by 90 million people around the world, but the Charlie Brown books, including the solemn "The Gospel According to Peanuts," that have sold 50 million copies; the hit stage musical, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown"; the forthcoming movie, due next Christmas, "A Boy Named Charlie Brown"; the vast industry in sweatshirts, calendars, toys, dolls, napkins and so forth, inspired by Charlie, Snoopy, Lucy and the other characters, and, of course, the TV series of specials.

ONLY FIVE of the television shows have been made, but they have been shown 13 times, and each rebroadcast brings higher ratings and more viewers.

For example when "Charlie Brown's All-Stars" was played last month for the fourth time on CBS, the Nielsen poll estimated that nearly half the sets in operation in the county were tuned to it. At the drawing board in his book-lined studio, separated by half a mile of lush rolling greenery (including the toughest four-hole golf course in the country) from the main buildings of Coffee Grounds, the quet, urbane, 47-year-old Schulz calmly regards this empire of his creation.

THE FOUNDTAINHEAD, he knows, lies in the comic strip he draws (for newspapers) with no assistants to help, working a daily 9:30-to-4 schedule He's impressed that the vehicle to carry astronauts to the moon has been named Snoppy — "funny to think of him flying around up there."

Schulz is interested in the documentary, not for himself — "Im not a very deep personality; i'm no Carl Sandburg" — but for the prestige for his profession — "I'm basically a dedicated comic strip artist; I'm a great believer the comic strip is something to be proud of, a perfect creative form."

THE PHILOSOPHERS and psychiatrists and theologians read extraordinary significance in Charlie Brown impresses Schultz, though he said, "I just draw what I think is funny."

But he admits, "It's also sad, filled with lineliness." He draws the strip out of the memory of his Midwestern childhood in St. Paul, where he was a lonely, inept, frustrated boy — the real Charlie Brown.

Schulz never refers to the strip as Peanuts, the name United Features Syndicate hung on it and which he detests. He says he strains for authenticity — "The baseball is ahthentic, Schroeder's music is authentic" — and that "I never pretend I'm writing for children; I'm glad kids like it, but I don't consciously devise it for kids.

-:-

"LITTLE KIDS," he added, "really have little knowledge of what goes on around them. They live in their own world. You know there's a Mother's Day and a Father's Day, but there is no Children's Day, and you can give that pat reply that every day is children's day, yet it isn't, and they know it."

Driving away from Coffee Grounds, producer Mendelson, who is writing a biography of Schulz, said:

"He's not an easy guy to explain. For instance, when we were making 'Charlie Brown's All-Stars,' we suddenly realized there was no other team. Charlie's team never plays another team. You start thinking about things like that and you'll go nuts."

Trial Opens In Kidnaping Of Heiress

DECATUR, Ga. (AP) — Burly, bearded Gary Steven Krist goes on trial today on a charge of kidnaping Florida heiress Barbara Jane Mackle.

Krist, 24, a convicted car thief who escaped a California prison, is charged with Ruth Eisemann-Schier, 26, Honduras-born biologist, in the Dec. 17 abduction of the Emory University coed. Miss Schier is to go on trial June 16.

The courthouse is not far from the motel where the 20-year-old student was taken from a sickbed, then buried alive in a plywood crypt under 18 inches of clay while a $500,000 ransom was negotiated with her father.

Krist has spent the last three weeks in a hospital undergoing psychiatric examination. He was removed from the DeKalb County jail April 22 after collapsing from a 27-day hunger strike.

Miss Mackle spent 83 hours buried below the ground in a coffin-like box equipped with air pipes, a fan, a battery-powered light and a small quantity of food and water.

Her father, Robert F. Mackle, a Coral Gables, Fla., land developer paid the ransom for information that led FBI agents to her prison.

Krist was captured on alligator-infested Hog Island on Florida's Gulf coast soon after the ransom payoff, and $400,000 of the money was with him, the FBI said.

Miss Eisemann-Schier, first woman ever put on the FBI's 10 most-wanted list, was arrested more than two months after the kidnaping in Norman, Okla., where she was working as a carhop at a drive-in.

ANN LANDERS

Try A 'Squareburger'

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to Sad Eyes made my 10-year-old cry.

How could you be so heartless as to suggest that "Sweetie," a 9-year-old dog who had been a family pet since puppyhood, be given away? Just because a dog ruins a few carpets is no excuse to break a child's heart.

And do you know what this would do to Sweetie? He would surely die of loneliness. Please change your advice before you are deluged with letters from people who'll take your hide off.—WYOMING.

Dear Wy: It's too late. The deluge has started. And the readers are against me 100 to 1. Read on:

—:—

War Declared

Dear Ann: Your advice that an indoor dog be given to a farmer is typical of the dumb things city people come up with. Farms already are overrun with dog owners who don't know the first thing about animals.

I disagree that a 9-year-old dog cannot be housebroken. Perhaps not in his customary surroundings, but I'll bet if they build a doghouse and enforce some new rules, Sweetie could be taught to mind his manners. —MRS. G.H.G.

Dear Ann: I'm 10 years old. I have a dog. When he wets on my mother's carpet I take some paper towels and blot it up. I sue my foot. Then I pour white vinegar on the spot. It fixes everything.—DOG LOVER.

-:-

Dear Ann: Our family refuses to believe that you consider wall-to-wall carpeting more important than a child's love for his dog. We have antique Oriental rugs in our home and the spots made by our nervous little poodle and our lazy golden retriever has added character to these priceless floor coverings. Shame on you, Ann!—PITTSBURGH.

-:-

Dear Ann: Your suggestion that a dog who has been a house pet for six years be given to a farmer was not a humane solution. To ask an aged dog to adjust to new people and new environment is unreasonable. It would be much better for the dog if they put him to sleep.—M.Y. OF WILLIAMSPORT.

Another Blockbuster

Dear Ann: Are you on vacation? Please come back. I can't believe you gave that stupid answer.

So the dog did a few things on the rug. So what? The notion that it is perfectly okay to get rid of anything that presents a challenge is exactly what's wrong with society today.

If you don't like school you drop out. If you don't like marriage you bust it up. If you don't like a job you quit. And now Ann Landers comes along and says it you can't housebreak your mutt give him to a farmer. Think it over, Toots!—WINNIPEG.

-:-

Dear Winnie: I HAVE thought it over and the next time I get a letter asking for advice about a dog I'm going to consult people who have dogs. Rugs I know something about but I'm no authority on dogs and my answer proved it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Colorful Solution To A Problem

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

What does that exotic resort have that your backyard doesn't have? Compute!

The answer may surprise home owners who have become disenchanted with their own lot. It may provide the key to one big happy vacation at home or lots of jazzy weekends.

First, feed your imaginary computer a backyard image. Start with the fixed blessings—the glorious colorways of the summer sky, bright sonshine, warm air, water spot — swimming pool or fish pond.

Next, feed the resort image into the machine, watch it digest and come up with two words: color and people. That's what you probably lack. A bit more sociability on your part and buckets of colorful pigment may turn your backyard into an irresistible hangout.

COLOR used lavishly on furniture, screen fences, concrete floors, umbrellas, awnings, along with wild, wonderful patterns that look go-go will give you a new outlook. It should be well thought out or the effect might be garish.

If you don't trust yourself, consult color experts at stores or seek the good judgment of a friend. Two solid colors or one solid and a pattern work out best in a small place.

Here are suggestions:

Inexpensive peel-cane furniture, director's chairs, pine chairs can soak up the vivid colors — lime, orange, blue, pink or the deep red and burgundy or pastels — for a very modern look.

You can spray paint, but if you want penetrating colors, you may need several coats, and the project may be more expensive than brush painting. A good thing about the spray is its convenience, if you can master the art. One may have difficulty in keeping the hand steady enough to disperse paint smoothly, and there may be problems in setting the just-right distance.

It is time-consuming to paint with a brush, but there may be instant satisfaction because you can see the color you want at once.

If you have a stockade-type fence enclosing your backyard, paint your side of the enclosure. Bright white is a good background color for vividly painted outdoor furniture. If outdoor furniture is white, paint the fence the same bright color as chair cushions or umbrellas.

IF THE yard is dirt, you may put down an outdoor carpet. If there is concrete or flagstone, paint it in attractive colors. Vivid pink or blue chalky colors are pretty choices, if you want to do it up Bermuda-style.

Fill in chips and cracks, prime concrete with an alkali-resistent base coat before you begin. Your husband and the paint store man will try to discourage you, and one argument is that such colors won't last. So what? A Caribbean vacation doesn't last either, and it is far more expensive than a paint happening. When the paint fades, do it again.

Rusty, black or white metal furniture may be painted in some of the new vivid colors for fun effects. Prime it for better results. Put several coats of exterior-type enamel on it.

Barrels or nail kegs are good containers for plants or trees. A row of them placed along a wall or fence can be very pretty. Yellow barrels are a good contrast to a white fence.

Several round tables that can be painted white and shaded with colorful embrellas to match chair cushions will go a long way toward increasing that resort feeling. It is a delightful way to entertain outdoors in the day or in evening candlelight. Some families may prefer picnic tables, but benches can be a bit uncomfortable for party-dressed people who want to linger around a table, and the mood isn't the same.

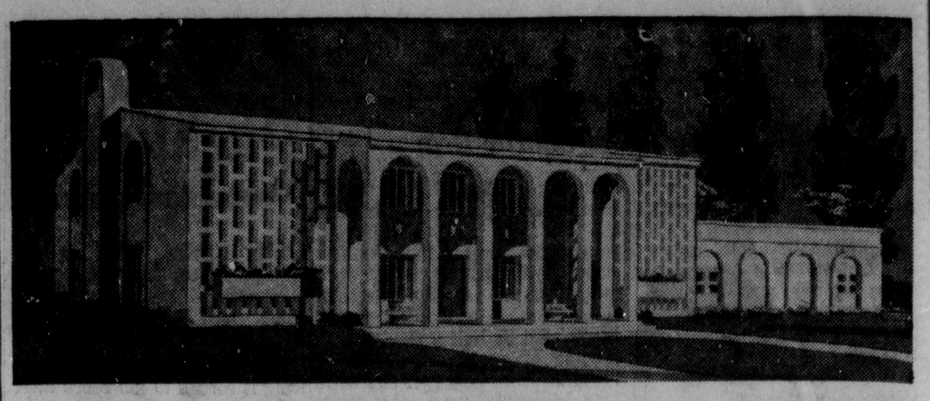
IDEAS CAN evolve to suit the purpose of individuals. One bachelor set up a bar-barrel at the corner of his yard, and one family uses a similar arrangement to dispense lemonade to children.

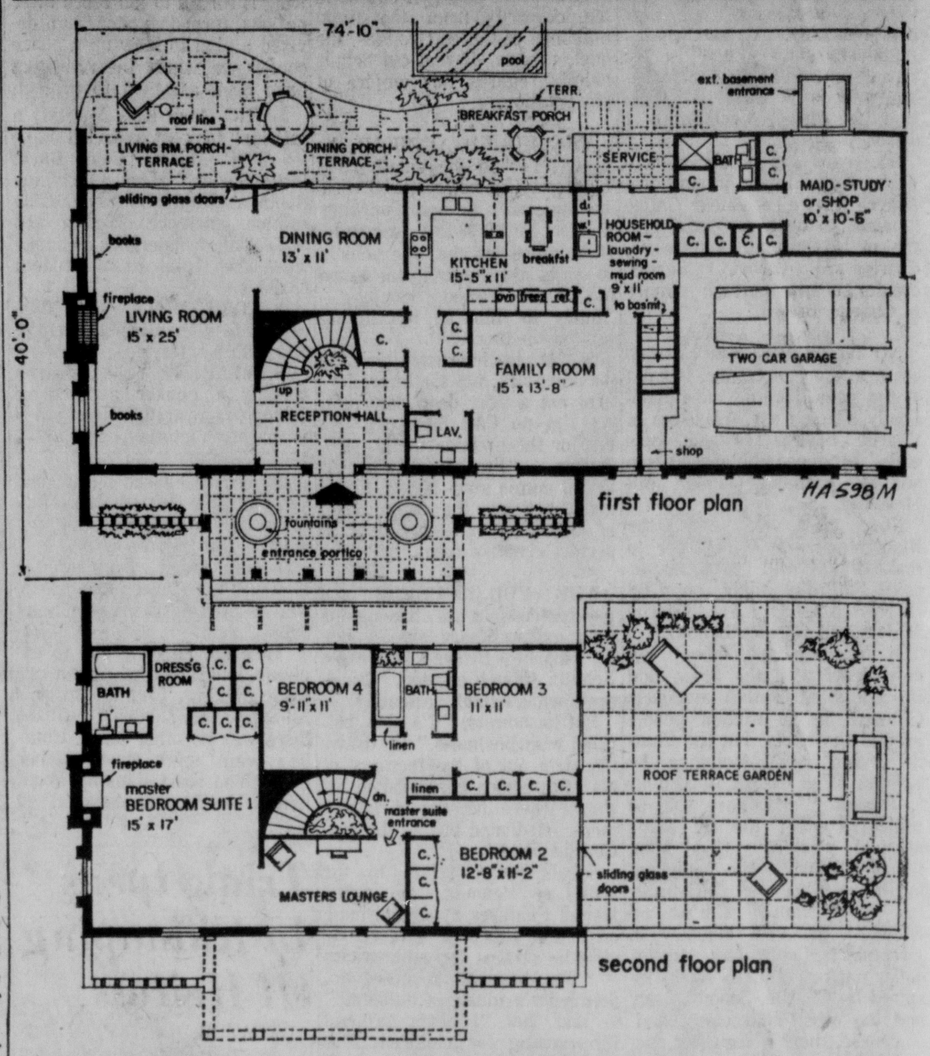
Travel posters on your patio enclosure will deepen the vacation mood.

Carry out the resort color scheme to your wardrobe, just as you do when you go to the Caribbean. Don't ruin the exotic setting by wearing blue jeans and a tired checked blouse.

Color schemes that might strike your fancy are these; lime green fence, umbrellas, cushions, white furniture, blue or green floor, white fence, pastel cushions and umbrellas, shocking pink fence, black wrought iron, vivid pink cushions and umbrellas.

A fence will make the picture cozier, but if you have a patio on large grounds, you can place urns or plant pots of color around the perimeter of it to achieve the same effect.





A NEW APPROACH to contemporary is Plan HA598M's long, slim arches. Porch facade is of solid masonry. Arches are of brick with a stucco facing and the pierced walls are made up of concrete block units. Front and left side are brick veneer with stucco facing. The formally designed porch has flanking plant spaces and two operating fountains. The main entrance is flanked by large window sidelights for reception hall natural lighting. Inside, a semicircular stair rises to the second floor. The rear wall has an 11-foot sliding glass door to the rear terrace. To the right of the reception hall is a guest powder room and two guest coat closets. The family room is just beyond, with a traffic pattern to a rear "household room." The second floor contains four bedrooms of good proportions. A luxurious roof terrace garden occupies the space over the garage. Being elevated, it needs no walls which restrict the view and cut off warm breezes. Architect is Rudolph Matern, 89 E. Jerico Turnpike, Mineola, N.Y. 11501. There are 1,613 square feet on the first floor and 1,176 on the second.

Varied Forms Are Taken By 'Overcoat' Of House

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

It's no longer possible to take a quick glance at the outside of a house and tell the nature of the material used as siding.

Sometimes even a close inspection doesn't instantly reveal whether the "overcoat," as builders call it, is made of wood in its natural state, plywood, hardboard, asphalt, asbestos-cement, aluminum, vinyl or whatever.

New advances in coatings and finishes have tended to bring together the appearances of the various materials so that one resembles the other, usually making it difficult for the average passerby to determine the kind of exterior product that has been used.

THIS INABILITY to distinguish which is which is of no real importance, except perhaps to some home owners who choose one material but want it to seem like something else.

In much the same way, a householder will often select something like a coffee table because it has a laminated plastic top — provided it has a wood-grained finish.

Two examples of siding which come in a large variety of styles, finishes and colors are aluminum and hardboard, although the same diversity of appearance is prevalent in the other materials.

Aluminum now comes in many colors, among them deep browns, green, gold and earth tone. Patterns and designs are many, including textured wood grains that you can actually feel. These are embossed directly on aluminum sections.

In some cases, the metal and coating are embossed at the same time; in others, only the coating is embossed. Textures range from smooth marble - like finishes to rough - sawn lumber to wood clapboard.

Hardboard sidings are available as horizontal lap and vertical panels, with V-grooved surfaces embossed with wood grains and other textures or in plain panels for board - and - batten applications. Preprimed hardboard sidings take and hold finish paint exceptionally well.

TECHNOLOGICAL advances have done more than merely provide house sidings with eye appeal.

Again using aluminum and hardboard as examples and not because they are unique, the new aluminum coatings have maximum resistance to fading, corrosion, abrasion, staining, salt spray, humidity, grease and oil; hardboard sidings can withstand hammer blows, hail, thrown objects and surface impacts without denting, won't split or splinter even when nailed close to the panel edges, are moisture - resistant and will not rust or corrode.

The material you select is largely a matter of personal preference — whether you are having a house built, having new siding installed or doing the job yourself — and the amount of money you want to spend.

It is important, in any case, that the workmanship be good. If you are having the project done professionally, which is the more likely eventuality, select a reliable contractor, preferably one who has been recommended by a friend or neighbor who has had similar work performed.

Pesky Gnats Should Get The Brushoff

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

After you have spent a hard day painting the exterior of your house, there is nothing quite so sickening as to find that a swarm of gnats or microscopic flies has settled on the paint by the thousands.

The average home mechanic will dash into his den or workroom and feverishly thumb through his do-it-yourselfer for the remedy. This is about the worst thing he could do. The second mistake will be to follow any directions that recommend touching either the gnats or the paint.

There is only one solid, practical solution for this catastrophe. That is to do absolutely nothing for three or four days, or as long as it takes for the paint to set up hard. At the end of that time, the only tool or anything else required is a good stiff whisk broom.

The swarming microscopic insects are very short - lived. They are also so fine in body that they dry up completely in one or two sunny days. After becoming brittle, they can be brushed off the paint without a trace. This also applies to large flies, spiders and mosquitoes. Just let them dry up, and the whisk broom will take care of them.

In some rare cases the swarm has been so heavy that the broom will not completely whisk them off, so it may be necessary to hose down the wall and use a soft bristle brush.

The temptations are great to do something immediately, but it must not be done, and the surface must not be touched until the paint is bone - dry and the insects dried out.

In rural Malaya, time is traditionally expressed in picturesque phrases: "Many cocks crow" — 3:30 a.m.; "The flies get busy" — 8:30 a.m.; "Buffaloes wallow" — 11:30 a.m.; "The buffaloes return to the shed" — 6 p.m.; "The children are sleepy"—7:30 p. m.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I darken light tan leather articles?

A. — By rubbing with a cloth dipped in ammonia. This produces a deep, brown finish. Be sure, however, to apply uniformly so as to avoid any spottiness in your finished job.

Q. — How can I clean stains out of a fish bowl?

A. — Vinegar and salt will do a good job of this.

Timely Tips Are Offered On Care Of Garden Hose

The way garden hoses continue to sell every year is not only a tribute to the number of new people owning lawns and gardens, but also an indictment of the older gardeners who have purchased hoses before.

Assuming you purchase a good garden hose to begin with you should seldom have to replace it. Even when a hose goes bad it can be repaired with very little effort and only pennies in expense.

As with all tools, care is the essential ingredient in prolonging the life of a hose. When not in use it should be coiled and stored.

You can shorten the life of any hose by leaving it in the driveway where you drive over it.

DRAGGING a hose over concrete surfaces not only abrades the rubber or plastic material, but damages the couplings as well.

Don't leave the water turned on at the faucet while closing it at the nozzle end for any length of time. The pressure will only damage the hose.

Don't leave a hose out in the hot sun after using it. The still water remaining in the hose will get hot and weaken the hose material.

When couplings get damaged or if the hose springs a leak near the end, get new couplings. Cut off the old and in case of a damaged hose, cut away the bad portion.

Purchase new couplings of the right size. The size to worry about is the inside diameter of the hose. The rest is standard.

Couplings are available with metal clinchers that can be pounded down over the surface of the hose after the tube portion is inserted into it. Couplings are available without clinchers and in this case you use a clamp.

For plastic hoses, use a special coupling made for plastic plus a clamp. There also are plastic hose fittings that require no clamp.

A tool is included that allows you to tighten an inner portion of the fitting so that it squeezes against the hose and the outer wall of the clamp.

WHEN repairing a plastic hose, dip the end to be repaired in hot water first. This will make it soft and easier to handle.

A hose that is cut or damaged can be kept from leaking temporarily by wrapping with tape. For a permanent repair, cut away the damaged part and use a hose mender. This is a brass tubt which is inserted in both cut ends of the hose. It is held in place with prongs that are pounded down or by clamps.

Keep faucet threads clean of dirt and this will lengthen the life of the coupling. Replace washers in all fittings frequently.

Keep hose away from oil or grease since they will damage rubber.

4 Services Interrupted By Militants

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Three Negro militants were ejected from the Sacred Heart Church in Dayton Sunday after they disrupted services and attempted to read a "Black Manifesto" —a document seeking $500 million from churches and synagogues for reparation to Negroes.

Black manifesto contingents also disrupted services at three other city churches and a synagogue, but with less serious consequences.

The other institutions were the Grace Methodist Church, the Christ Episcopal Church, St. John's United Church of Christ and the Beth Abraham Synagogue.

Police escorted three blacks from the Sacred Heart Church after one began reading the manifesto to the congregation over the objections of the priest.

The three were not arrested but church officials said they would bring charges against them.

The Grace Methodist Church offered a different type of resistance.

According to the Rev. N. C. McPherson, senior minister, two men and two women walked into the church as he was reading the pastoral prayer.

"Our ushers," said the Rev. Mr. McPherson, "had been instructed to welcome them and bring them down to the front and offer them a seat if they came."

He said the militants began reading the document and took over the lectern.

The Rev. Mr. McPherson responded by directing his congregation to sing America the Beautiful which it did until the militants' leader, Charles Tate, finished reading the document.

There were no arrests.

Minor incidents, similar in pattern, occurred at the other institutions.

In Cincinnati, eight Negroes were granted permission to read the manifesto at the Bond Hill Presbyterian Church. About a half dozen persons walked out wnen the paper was read near the end of the service.

On The TV Beat

By Cecil Smith

And Now, The Real Charlie Brown

SEBASTAPOL, Calif. — The road to Coffee Grounds winds north of San Francisco's Golden Gate through apple orchards that make sweet the air. A sign on the gate at Coffee Grounds says: "Uninvited Guests Not Welcome. "Sparky put that up to keep me out," said Lee Mendelson.

Cecil Smith

Six years ago producer Mendelson drove to the magnificent 28-acre estate called Coffee Grounds to do a television profile of its waggish owner, Charles M. (Sparky) Schulz, creator of the cartoon empire of Charlie Brown.

-:-

NO NETWORK was interested in a study of Schulz, but out of the project came the fantastically successful series of Charlie Brown television specials, produced by Mendelson and his animator partner, Bill Melendez.

Now, after six years, the show Mendelson went there to make finally will reach the air next Saturday night on CBS (8:30, Channel 8), "Charlie Brown and Charles Schultz." The documentary show not only deals with the artist and the comic strip that avidly is followed by 90 million people around the world, but the Charlie Brown books, including the solemn "The Gospel According to Peanuts," that have sold 50 million copies; the hit stage musical, "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown"; the forthcoming movie, due next Christmas, "A Boy Named Charlie Brown"; the vast industry in sweatshirts, calendars, toys, dolls, napkins and so forth, inspired by Charlie, Snoopy, Lucy and the other characters, and, of course, the TV series of specials.

ONLY FIVE of the television shows have been made, but they have been shown 13 times, and each rebroadcast brings higher ratings and more viewers.

For example when "Charlie Brown's All-Stars" was played last month for the fourth time on CBS, the Nielsen poll estimated that nearly half the sets in operation in the county were tuned to it. At the drawing board in his book-lined studio, separated by half a mile of lush rolling greenery (including the toughest four-hole golf course in the country) from the main buildings of Coffee Grounds, the quiet, urbane, 47-year-old Schulz calmly regards this empire of his creation.

THE FOUNDTAINHEAD, he knows, lies in the comic strip he draws (for newspapers) with no assistants to help, working a daily 9:30-to-4 schedule. He's impressed that the vehicle to carry astronauts to the moon has been named Snoppy — "funny to think of him flying around up there."

Schulz is interested in the documentary, not for himself — "Im not a very deep personality; I'm no Carl Sandburg" — but for the prestige for his profession — "I'm basically a dedicated comic strip artist; I'm a great believer the comic strip is something to be proud of, a perfect creative form."

THE PHILOSOPHERS and psychiatrists and theologians read extraordinary significance in Charlie Brown impresses Schultz, though he said, "I just draw what I think is funny."

But he admits, "It's also sad, filled with lineliness." He draws the strip out of the memory of his Midwestern childhood in St. Paul, where he was a lonely, inept, frustrated boy — the real Charlie Brown.

Schulz never refers to the strip as Peanuts, the name United Features Syndicate hung on it and which he detests. He says he strains for authenticity — "The baseball is ahthentic, Schroeder's music is authentic" — and that "I never pretend I'm writing for children; I'm glad kids like it, but I don't consciously devise it for kids.

-:-

"LITTLE KIDS," he added, "really have little knowledge of what goes on around them. They live in their own world. You know there's a Mother's Day and a Father's Day, but there is no Children's Day, and you can give that pat reply that every day is children's day, yet it isn't, and they know it."

Driving away from Coffee Grounds, producer Mendelson, who is writing a biography of Schulz, said:

"He's not an easy guy to explain. For instance, when we were making 'Charlie Brown's All-Stars,' we suddenly realized there was no other team. Charlie's team never plays another team. You start thinking about things like that and you'll go nuts."

Trial Opens In Kidnaping Of Heiress

DECATUR, Ga. (AP) — Burly, bearded Gary Steven Krist goes on trial today on a charge of kidnaping Florida heiress Barbara Jane Mackle.

Krist, 24, a convicted car thief who escaped a California prison, is charged with Ruth Eisemann-Schier, 26, Honduras-born biologist, in the Dec. 17 abduction of the Emory University coed. Miss Schier is to go on trial June 16.

The courthouse is not far from the motel where the 20-year-old student was taken from a sickbed, then buried alive in a plywood crypt under 18 inches of clay while a $500,000 ransom was negotiated with her father.

Krist has spent the last three weeks in a hospital undergoing psychiatric examination. He was removed from the DeKalb County jail April 22 after collapsing from a 27-day hunger strike.

Miss Mackle spent 83 hours buried below the ground in a coffin-like box equipped with air pipes, a fan, a battery-powered light and a small quantity of food and water.

Her father, Robert F. Mackle, a Coral Gables, Fla., land developer paid the ransom for information that led FBI agents to her prison.

Krist was captured on alligator-infested Hog Island on Florida's Gulf coast soon after the ransom payoff, and $400,000 of the money was with him, the FBI said.

Miss Eisemann-Schier, first woman ever put on the FBI's 10 most-wanted list, was arrested more than two months after the kidnaping in Norman, Okla., where she was working as a carhop at a drive-in.

Leaks Halted By New Plug

To the average home owner, there is something terrifying about a sudden gush of water, particularly when it does not come from a broken pipe, but through the cellar wall or floor. This sort of emergency happens more often than is generally known.

It may be caused by a broken water main outside the house, by a change in soil conditions in the neighborhood, by interference with the ground drainage which previously had been good or by the sudden appearance of a spring.

Whatever the source, it builds up around the house foundation until it hits a hole or crevice and then spurts through into the basement. Ordinary waterproofing, which will handle slow leaks and seepage, is not always effective in these cases because the pressure of the gushing water washes it away before it has a chance to set and become strong.

Due to the general use these days of much space below the ground, there has been a great amount of study given to the development of a material which would handle a pressure leak — and it has finally been perfected.

Known as an aqua-plug, it is a prepared material which needs only to be mixed with water, formed into a ball and forced into the hole or crevice. It is held in place firmly, and in 90 seconds it becomes as hard as a rock, firmly adhering to the masonry around the leak. The gushing water is stopped in its tracks.

While originally developed for work in tunnels, mines, subways and other subterranean areas where water under pressure is frequently encountered, it is a definite boon to the home owner. It is easy to use and astonishingly economical in price. It is available in five-pound bags for home use.

Here's A Closer Look At Plywood

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Because fir plywood is the kind you usually get when you walk into a lumber yard and ask merely for plywood, most persons are unaware of the many varieties of this material.

The two basic kinds of plywood are interior and exterior. Both are made in the same manner: by gluing together sheets of veneer, usually at right angles to one another. But the exterior type is bonded with a special adhesive designed for permanent outside exposure.

The two basic classes of plywood are softwood and hardwood. The popular fir falls into the softwood category, along with pine, cedar, redwood, larch, cypress and many others. The hardwoods include walnut, oak, birch, maple, mahogany and cherry. Incidentally, the designation depends on the kind of wood used for the face or top veneer.

WITHIN the types and classes of plywood are several grades, most of which refer to the appearance of the face and back. A-A grade is tops; A-B indicates an excellent face, with a slightly less perfect appearance on the back; A-C and A-D grade are used where only one side of the panel will be seen in the finished project.

Why is fir plywood the best seller? Because it is the least expensive yet has tremendous strength. However, it requires the use of a special sealer to prevent its wild grain from coming through the finish coat.

There are two kinds of fir plywood sealer: one for use on wood which is to be finished with a transparent material, such are varnish, shellac or lacquer; the other for wood which is to be painted. Hardwood plywoods are treated in the same manner as solid hardwood.

Those who have worked with regular lumber are surprised to find, when they make their first purchase of plywood, that the dimensions are exact. That is, if you buy a piece of half - inch plywood 4 feet by 8 feet, those are its measurements. With regular lumber, the dimensions refer to the wood before it was sanded and prepared at the mill.

A BIG advantage of plywood is that it is not susceptible to splitting, even when nails and screws are driven close to the panel edges.

When cutting plywood with a table or radial saw, the good side of the plywood should be face up. When using a portable power saw, the good side should be face down. With a handsaw, it should be face up.

In drilling small - diameter holes in plywood with either hand or power drills, use a piece of wood behind the panel to avoid splintering if the appearance of that side of the panel is important.

For large holes, using a brace and bit, employ the same technique, but instead of going straight through, stop as soon as the point of the bit appears. Reverse the panel and work from the other side to complete the hole.

Former Wellsville Resident Heads Allegheny Program

A former Wellsville resident assumed his duties this month as executive director of the Allegheny chapter of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children.

He is Charles Peters, the son of Mrs. Grace Peters and the late Clarence H. Peters, former mayor of Wellsville.

Peters had been serving a project director for the New Hampshire governor's Rehabilitation Planning Commission.

In addition to major responsibility for statewide rehabilitation planning, Peters has, for the last seven months, served as acting director of the governor's commission on crime and delinquency. The governor's commission on crime and delinquency is responsible for all law enforcement planning under the department of justice's safe streets act and the department of health, education and welfare's delinquency prevention act.

Before joining the governor's planning staff in New Hampshire, two years ago, Peters was director of the anti-poverty effort in the city and county of Erie and an instructor in elementary psychology at Edinboro State College.

Prior to leading Erie's war on poverty in 1965, Peters was responsible for comprehensive mental health and mental retardation planning in the state's planning program in the northwest quarter of Pennsylvania.

Peters also has had two years' experience as the first director of the Beaver County Association for Retarded Children. In this capacity, he planned and initiated a rehabilitation sheltered workshop program that in two years grew from 8 to 50 mentally - retarded trainees. In Beaver County, he also administered a four-class pre-school program and a summer day camp for the mentally retarded. Before serving as director of the association, he instructed mildly mentally retarded adolescents in the Beaver County School system for three years.

Peters, a 1951 graduate of Wellsville High School, holds a B.S. degree in secondary education from Thiel College, Greenville, Pa. He has done graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania State University.

The new director, 36, is a former captain in the Marine Corps Reserve.

He now resides with his wife Georgina, two sons, Charles Jr. and Stewart, and a daughter, Anne Elizabeth, on the West Parrish Rd. in Concord, N.H. Peters and his family now will reside in the Sewickley area.

Seckman Presented Award At Grove City

Daryl B. Seckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne E. Seckman of East Liverpool RD 3, received an award Saturday during an Air Force ROTC awards ceremony at Grove City (Pa.) College.

He was presented the American Legion ROTC Military Excellence Award (silver medal).

Seckman is a junior majoring in Mechanical Engineering and is a member of the Arnold Air Society, the Blue Crusaders and several engineering clubs.

He is a 1966 graduate of Beaver Local High.

Laird Seen Going Easy On ABM Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Chief Melvin R. Laird, the ramrod in President Nixon's drive for the Safeguard missile defense system, has cautioned other administration officials to hold off for the time being efforts to line up congressional support for the program.

A confidential administration poll shows 44 senators now favoring deployment of the Safeguard, while 46 are opposed and 10 uncommitted.

Although lagging in the polls —a separate survey by the Associated Press showed the anti-Safeguard strength at 48, with 46 favoring the administration and six uncommitted—Laird is confident of ultimate success.

He is counting on Nixon to apply pressure on the undecided and some GOP senators now listed as Safeguard opponents to bring the count around.

But with the crucial Senate vote not expected until next month, Laird obviously doesn't want to take the edge of presidential persuasive efforts with premature pressure applied by other officials.

A leading Safeguard opponent, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, declined to estimate how many votes are now lined up against the system. But he said his forces would be ready for a showdown next month.

The DOCTOR Says

Diabetes More Than Lack Of Insulin

The cause of diabetes, once thought to be a deficiency of insulin production by the pancreas, has been found to be more complicated than this. Some diabetics whose onset of the disease occurs after they are 40 appear to have an insulin level in their blood that is above normal.

Dr. Brandstadt

This is explained by the fact that a precursor of insulin called proinsulin is included in the blood insulin estimation, yet this proinsulin will not reduce the blood sugar level. It must be converted into true insulin by another enzyme, which is lacking in these patients.

—:—

TO FURTHER complicate the matter it appears that in a person with a heavy layer of fat the fat competes with the muscle tissue for insulin. Such a person often shows no evidence of diabetes after he loses a substantial amount of fat.

The new oral antidiabetic drug, phenformin, will effectively control the diabetes in these obese persons if they find it next to impossible to reduce.

Other factors causing diabetes are being studied. In some cases the disease may be caused by large doses of benzothiazides and drugs of the cortisone group.

Q — Are there different kinds of diabetes? Can one who has it eat honey?

A — There is a juvenile type, about 25 per cent of all cases, which progresses rapidly to hardening of the arteries and other serious complications unless carefully controlled; and there is a maturity -onset type which accounts for the remaining cases and is generally less severe. A person with diabetes can eat limited amounts of honey and other sweets provided they are counted in his weighed caloric allowance of carbohydrates.

Q — I am a 26-year-old diabetic. I have been taking insulin since I was 5. Would it be possible for me to switch to Orinase?

Thief Obtains $100 In Home

An East Liverpool man told police a thief took $100 in currency from his home during his seven-hour absence Saturday.

Rodney Stull of 1022 Bank St., distribution foreman for the city waterworks department, reported a leather pouch containing four $20 bills and two $10's was taken from a chest in the kitchen at his home while he was absent between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. The pouch also contained a bank book. Stull said the back door of his home was not locked.

Meanwhile, Frank Potts, operator of the Tri-State News Agency on Union St., told officers a thief took money from the porches of 10 homes along W. 3rd St. early Sunday morning. Householders had placed the money outside to pay for Sunday newspapers, he said.

About $3.50 was involved. The money was taken from homes on the route of Frank McKinnon, a newspaper carrier, he said.

Colorful Solution To A Problem

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

What does that exotic resort have that your backyard doesn't have? Compute!

The answer may surprise home owners who have become disenchanted with their own lot. It may provide the key to one big happy vacation at home or lots of jazzy weekends.

First, feed your imaginary computer a backyard image. Start with the fixed blessings—the glorious colorways of the summer sky, bright sonshine, warm air, water spot — swimming pool or fish pond.

Next, feed the resort image into the machine, watch it digest and come up with two words: color and people. That's what you probably lack. A bit more sociability on your part and buckets of colorful pigment may turn your backyard into an irresistible hangout.

COLOR used lavishly on furniture, screen fences, concrete floors, umbrellas, awnings, along with wild, wonderful patterns that look go-go will give you a new outlook. It should be well thought out or the effect might be garish.

If you don't trust yourself, consult color experts at stores or seek the good judgment of a friend. Two solid colors or one solid and a pattern work out best in a small place.

Here are suggestions:

Inexpensive peel-cane furniture, director's chairs, pine chairs can soak up the vivid colors — lime, orange, blue, pink or the deep red and burgundy or pastels — for a very modern look.

You can spray paint, but if you want penetrating colors, you may need several coats, and the project may be more expensive than brush painting. A good thing about the spray is its convenience, if you can master the art. One may have difficulty in keeping the hand steady enough to disperse paint smoothly, and there may be problems in setting the just-right distance.

It is time-consuming to paint with a brush, but there may be instant satisfaction because you can see the color you want at once.

If you have a stockade-type fence enclosing your backyard, paint your side of the enclosure. Bright white is a good background color for vividly painted outdoor furniture. If outdoor furniture is white, paint the fence the same bright color as chair cushions or umbrellas.

IF THE yard is dirt, you may put down an outdoor carpet. If there is concrete or flagstone, paint it in attractive colors. Vivid pink or blue chalky colors are pretty choices, if you want to do it up Bermuda-style.

Fill in chips and cracks, prime concrete with an alkali-resistent base coat before you begin. Your husband and the paint store man will try to discourage you, and one argument is that such colors won't last. So what? A Caribbean vacation doesn't last either, and it is far more expensive than a paint happening. When the paint fades, do it again.

Rusty, black or white metal furniture may be painted in some of the new vivid colors for fun effects. Prime it for better results. Put several coats of exterior-type enamel on it.

Barrels or nail kegs are good containers for plants or trees. A row of them placed along a wall or fence can be very pretty. Yellow barrels are a good contrast to a white fence.

Several round tables that can be painted white and shaded with colorful embrellas to match chair cushions will go a long way toward increasing that resort feeling. It is a delightful way to entertain outdoors in the day or in evening candlelight. Some families may prefer picnic tables, but benches can be a bit uncomfortable for party-dressed people who want to linger around a table, and the mood isn't the same.

IDEAS CAN evolve to suit the purpose of individuals. One bachelor set up a bar-barrel at the corner of his yard, and one family uses a similar arrangement to dispense lemonade to children.

Travel posters on your patio enclosure will deepen the vacation mood.

Carry out the resort color scheme to your wardrobe, just as you do when you go to the Caribbean. Don't ruin the exotic setting by wearing blue jeans and a tired checked blouse.

Color schemes that might strike your fancy are these; lime green fence, umbrellas, cushions, white furniture, blue or green floor, white fence, pastel cushions and umbrellas, shocking pink fence, black wrought iron, vivid pink cushions and umbrellas.

A fence will make the picture cozier, but if you have a patio on large grounds, you can place urns or plant pots of color around the perimeter of it to achieve the same effect.

Varied Forms Are Taken By 'Overcoat' Of House

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

It's no longer possible to take a quick glance at the outside of a house and tell the nature of the material used as siding.

Sometimes even a close inspection doesn't instantly reveal whether the "overcoat," as builders call it, is made of wood in its natural state, plywood, hardboard, asphalt, asbestos-cement, aluminum, vinyl or whatever.

New advances in coatings and finishes have tended to bring together the appearances of the various materials so that one resembles the other, usually making it difficult for the average passerby to determine the kind of exterior product that has been used.

THIS INABILITY to distinguish which is which is of no real importance, except perhaps to some home owners who choose one material but want it to seem like something else.

In much the same way, a householder will often select something like a coffee table because it has a laminated plastic top — provided it has a wood-grained finish.

Two examples of siding which come in a large variety of styles, finishes and colors are aluminum and hardboard, although the same diversity of appearance is prevalent in the other materials.

Aluminum now comes in many colors, among them deep browns, green, gold and earth tone. Patterns and designs are many, including textured wood grains that you can actually feel. These are embossed directly on aluminum sections.

In some cases, the metal and coating are embossed at the same time; in others, only the coating is embossed. Textures range from smooth marble - like finishes to rough - sawn lumber to wood clapboard.

Hardboard sidings are available as horizontal lap and vertical panels, with V-grooved surfaces embossed with wood grains and other textures or in plain panels for board - and - batten applications. Preprimed hardboard sidings take and hold finish paint exceptionally well.

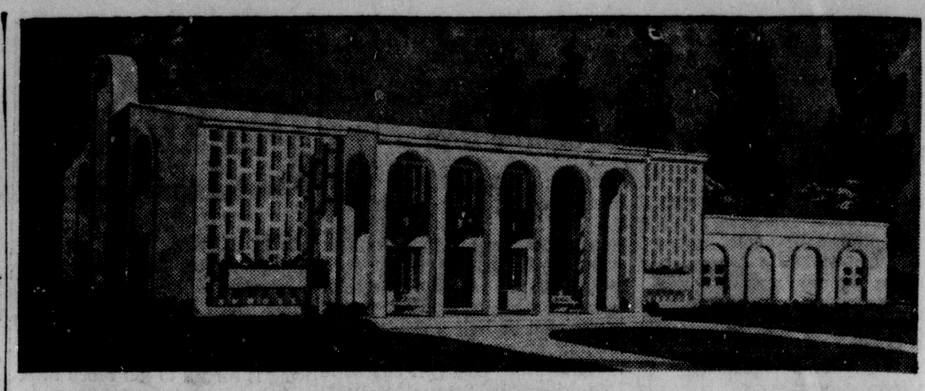
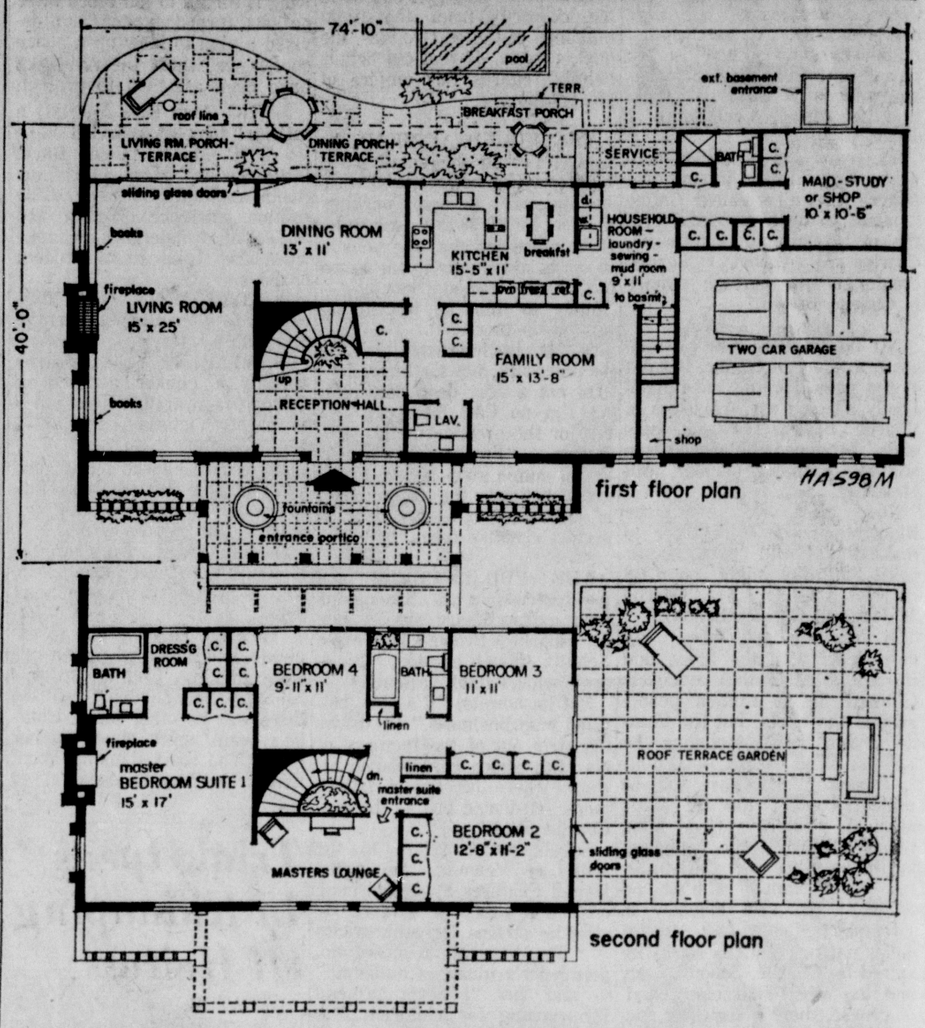
TECHNOLOGICAL advances have done more than merely provide house sidings with eye appeal.

Again using aluminum and hardboard as examples and not because they are unique, the new aluminum coatings have maximum resistance to fading, corrosion, abrasion, staining, salt spray, humidity, grease and oil; hardboard sidings can withstand hammer blows, hail, thrown objects and surface impacts without denting, won't split or splinter even when nailed close to the panel edges, are moisture - resistant and will not rust or corrode.

The material you select is largely a matter of personal preference — whether you are having a house built, having new siding installed or doing the job yourself — and the amount of money you want to spend.

It is important, in any case, that the workmanship be good. If you are having the project done professionally, which is the more likely eventuality, select a reliable contractor, preferably one who has been recommended by a friend or neighbor who has had similar work performed.





A NEW APPROACH to contemporary is Plan HA598M's long, slim arches. Porch facade is of solid masonry. Arches are of brick with a stucco facing and the pierced walls are made up of concrete block units. Front and left side are brick veneer with stucco facing. The formally designed porch has flanking plant spaces and two operating fountains. The main entrance is flanked by large window sidelights for reception hall natural lighting. Inside, a semicircular stair rises to the second floor. The rear wall has an 11-foot sliding glass door to the rear terrace. To the right of the reception hall is a guest powder room and two guest coat closets. The family room is just beyond, with a traffic pattern to a rear "household room." The second floor contains four bedrooms of good proportions. A luxurious roof terrace garden occupies the space over the garage. Being elevated, it needs no walls which restrict the view and cut off warm breezes. Architect is Rudolph Matern, 89 E. Jerico Turnpike, Mineola, N.Y. 11501. There are 1,613 square feet on the first floor and 1,176 on the second.

Pesky Gnats Should Get The Brushoff

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

After you have spent a hard day painting the exterior of your house, there is nothing quite so sickening as to find that a swarm of gnats or microscopic flies has settled on the paint by the thousands.

The average home mechanic will dash into his den or workroom and feverishly thumb through his do-it-yourselfer for the remedy. This is about the worst thing he could do. The second mistake will be to follow any directions that recommend touching either the gnats or the paint.

There is only one solid, practical solution for this catastrophe. That is to do absolutely nothing for three or four days, or as long as it takes for the paint to set up hard. At the end of that time, the only tool or anything else required is a good stiff whisk broom.

The swarming microscopic insects are very short - lived. They are also so fine in body that they dry up completely in one or two sunny days. After becoming brittle, they can be brushed off the paint without a trace. This also applies to large flies, spiders and mosquitoes. Just let them dry up, and the whisk broom will take care of them.

In some rare cases the swarm has been so heavy that the broom will not completely whisk them off, so it may be necessary to hose down the wall and use a soft bristle brush.

The temptations are great to do something immediately, but it must not be done, and the surface must not be touched until the paint is bone - dry and the insects dried out.

In rural Malaya, time is traditionally expressed in picturesque phrases: "Many cocks crow" — 3:30 a.m.; "The flies get busy" — 8:30 a.m.; "Buffaloes wallow" — 11:30 a.m.; "The buffaloes return to the shed" — 6 p.m.; "The children are sleepy"—7:30 p. m.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I darken light tan leather articles?

A. — By rubbing with a cloth dipped in ammonia. This produces a deep, brown finish. Be sure, however, to apply uniformly so as to avoid any spottiness in your finished job.

Q. — How can I clean stains out of a fish bowl?

A. — Vinegar and salt will do a good job of this.

Timely Tips Are Offered On Care Of Garden Hose

The way garden hoses continue to sell every year is not only a tribute to the number of new people owning lawns and gardens, but also an indictment of the older gardeners who have purchased hoses before.

Assuming you purchase a good garden hose to begin with you should seldom have to replace it. Even when a hose goes bad it can be repaired with very little effort and only pennies in expense.

As with all tools, care is the essential ingredient in prolonging the life of a hose. When not in use it should be coiled and stored.

You can shorten the life of any hose by leaving it in the driveway where you drive over it.

DRAGGING a hose over concrete surfaces not only abrades the rubber or plastic material, but damages the couplings as well.

Don't leave the water turned on at the faucet while closing it at the nozzle end for any length of time. The pressure will only damage the hose.

Don't leave a hose out in the hot sun after using it. The still water remaining in the hose will get hot and weaken the hose material.

When couplings get damaged or if the hose springs a leak near the end, get new couplings. Cut off the old and in case of a damaged hose, cut away the bad portion.

Purchase new couplings of the right size. The size to worry about is the inside diameter of the hose. The rest is standard.

Couplings are available with metal clinchers that can be pounded down over the surface of the hose after the tube portion is inserted into it. Couplings are available without clinchers and in this case you use a clamp.

For plastic hoses, use a special coupling made for plastic plus a clamp. There also are plastic hose fittings that require no clamp.

A tool is included that allows you to tighten an inner portion of the fitting so that it squeezes against the hose and the outer wall of the clamp.

WHEN repairing a plastic hose, dip the end to be repaired in hot water first. This will make it soft and easier to handle.

A hose that is cut or damaged can be kept from leaking temporarily by wrapping with tape. For a permanent repair, cut away the damaged part and use a hose mender. This is a brass tubt which is inserted in both cut ends of the hose. It is held in place with prongs that are pounded down or by clamps.

Keep faucet threads clean of dirt and this will lengthen the life of the coupling. Replace washers in all fittings frequently.

Keep hose away from oil or grease since they will damage rubber.

4 Services Interrupted By Militants

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Three Negro militants were ejected from the Sacred Heart Church in Dayton Sunday after they disrupted services and attempted to read a "Black Manifesto" —a document seeking $500 million from churches and synagogues for reparation to Negroes.

Black manifesto contingents also disrupted services at three other city churches and a synagogue, but with less serious consequences.

The other institutions were the Grace Methodist Church, the Christ Episcopal Church, St. John's United Church of Christ and the Beth Abraham Synagogue.

Police escorted three blacks from the Sacred Heart Church after one began reading the manifesto to the congregation over the objections of the priest.

The three were not arrested but church officials said they would bring charges against them.

The Grace Methodist Church offered a different type of resistance.

According to the Rev. N. C. McPherson, senior minister, two men and two women walked into the church as he was reading the pastoral prayer.

"Our ushers," said the Rev. Mr. McPherson, "had been instructed to welcome them and bring them down to the front and offer them a seat if they came."

He said the militants began reading the document and took over the lectern.

The Rev. Mr. McPherson responded by directing his congregation to sing America the Beautiful which it did until the militants' leader, Charles Tate, finished reading the document.

There were no arrests.

Minor incidents, similar in pattern, occurred at the other institutions.

In Cincinnati, eight Negroes were granted permission to read the manifesto at the Bond Hill Presbyterian Church. About a half dozen persons walked out when the paper was read near the end of the service.

Leaks Halted By New Plug

To the average home owner, there is something terrifying about a sudden gush of water, particularly when it does not come from a broken pipe, but through the cellar wall or floor. This sort of emergency happens more often than is generally known.

It may be caused by a broken water main outside the house, by a change in soil conditions in the neighborhood, by interference with the ground drainage which previously had been good or by the sudden appearance of a spring.

Whatever the source, it builds up around the house foundation until it hits a hole or crevice and then spurts through into the basement. Ordinary waterproofing, which will handle slow leaks and seepage, is not always effective in these cases because the pressure of the gushing water washes it away before it has a chance to set and become strong.

Due to the general use these days of much space below the ground, there has been a great amount of study given to the development of a material which would handle a pressure leak — and it has finally been perfected.

Known as an aqua-plug, it is a prepared material which needs only to be mixed with water, formed into a ball and forced into the hole or crevice. It is held in place firmly, and in 90 seconds it becomes as hard as a rock, firmly adhering to the masonry around the leak. The gushing water is stopped in its tracks.

While originally developed for work in tunnels, mines, subways and other subterranean areas where water under pressure is frequently encountered, it is a definite boon to the home owner. It is easy to use and astonishingly economical in price. It is available in five-pound bags for home use.

Here's A Closer Look At Plywood

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Because fir plywood is the kind you usually get when you walk into a lumber yard and ask merely for plywood, most persons are unaware of the many varieties of this material.

The two basic kinds of plywood are interior and exterior. Both are made in the same manner: by gluing together sheets of veneer, usually at right angles to one another. But the exterior type is bonded with a special adhesive designed for permanent outside exposure.

The two basic classes of plywood are softwood and hardwood. The popular fir falls into the softwood category, along with pine, cedar, redwood, larch, cypress and many others. The hardwoods include walnut, oak, birch, maple, mahogany and cherry. Incidentally, the designation depends on the kind of wood used for the face or top veneer.

WITHIN the types and classes of plywood are several grades, most of which refer to the appearance of the face and back. A-A grade is tops; A-B indicates an excellent face, with a slightly less perfect appearance on the back; A-C and A-D grade are used where only one side of the panel will be seen in the finished project.

Why is fir plywood the best seller? Because it is the least expensive yet has tremendous strength. However, it requires the use of a special sealer to prevent its wild grain from coming through the finish coat.

There are two kinds of fir plywood sealer: one for use on wood which is to be finished with a transparent material, such are varnish, shellac or lacquer; the other for wood which is to be painted. Hardwood plywoods are treated in the same manner as solid hardwood.

Those who have worked with regular lumber are surprised to find, when they make their first purchase of plywood, that the dimensions are exact. That is, if you buy a piece of half - inch plywood 4 feet by 8 feet, those are its measurements. With regular lumber, the dimensions refer to the wood before it was sanded and prepared at the mill.

A BIG advantage of plywood is that it is not susceptible to splitting, even when nails and screws are driven close to the panel edges.

When cutting plywood with a table or radial saw, the good side of the plywood should be face up. When using a portable power saw, the good side should be face down. With a handsaw, it should be face up.

In drilling small - diameter holes in plywood with either hand or power drills, use a piece of wood behind the panel to avoid splintering if the appearance of that side of the panel is important.

For large holes, using a brace and bit, employ the same technique, but instead of going straight through, stop as soon as the point of the bit appears. Reverse the panel and work from the other side to complete the hole.

Former Wellsville Resident Heads Allegheny Program

A former Wellsville resident assumed his duties this month as executive director of the Allegheny chapter of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children.

He is Charles Peters, the son of Mrs. Grace Peters and the late Clarence H. Peters, former mayor of Wellsville.

Peters had been serving a project director for the New Hampshire governor's Rehabilitation Planning Commission.

In addition to major responsibility for statewide rehabilitation planning, Peters has, for the last seven months, served as acting director of the governor's commission on crime and delinquency. The governor's commission on crime and delinquency is responsible for all law enforcement planning under the department of justice's safe streets act and the department of health, education and welfare's delinquency prevention act.

Before joining the governor's planning staff in New Hampshire, two years ago, Peters was director of the anti-poverty effort in the city and county of Erie and an instructor in elementary psychology at Edinboro State College.

Prior to leading Erie's war on poverty in 1965, Peters was responsible for comprehensive mental health and mental retardation planning in the state's planning program in the northwest quarter of Pennsylvania.

Peters also has had two years' experience as the first director of the Beaver County Association for Retarded Children. In this capacity, he planned and initiated a rehabilitation sheltered workshop program that in two years grew from 8 to 50 mentally - retarded trainees. In Beaver County, he also administered a four-class pre-school program and a summer day camp for the mentally retarded. Before serving as director of the association, he instructed mildly mentally retarded adolescents in the Beaver County School system for three years.

Peters, a 1951 graduate of Wellsville High School, holds a B.S. degree in secondary education from Thiel College, Greenville, Pa. He has done graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania State University.

The new director, 36, is a former captain in the Marine Corps Reserve.

He now resides with his wife Georgina, two sons, Charles Jr. and Stewart, and a daughter, Anne Elizabeth, on the West Parrish Rd. in Concord, N.H. Peters and his family now will reside in the Sewickley area.

Seckman Presented Award At Grove City

Daryl B. Seckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne E. Seckman of East Liverpool RD 3, received an award Saturday during an Air Force ROTC awards ceremony at Grove City (Pa.) College.

He was presented the American Legion ROTC Military Excellence Award (silver medal).

Seckman is a junior majoring in Mechanical Engineering and is a member of the Arnold Air Society, the Blue Crusaders and several engineering clubs.

He is a 1966 graduate of Beaver Local High.

Laird Seen Going Easy On ABM Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Chief Melvin R. Laird, the ramrod in President Nixon's drive for the Safeguard missile defense system, has cautioned other administration officials to hold off for the time being efforts to line up congressional support for the program.

A confidential administration poll shows 44 senators now favoring deployment of the Safeguard, while 46 are opposed and 10 uncommitted.

Although lagging in the polls—a separate survey by the Associated Press showed the anti-Safeguard strength at 48, with 46 favoring the administration and six uncommitted—Laird is confident of ultimate success.

He is counting on Nixon to apply pressure on the undecided and some GOP senators now listed as Safeguard opponents to bring the count around.

But with the crucial Senate vote not expected until next month, Laird obviously doesn't want to take the edge of presidential persuasive efforts with premature pressure applied by other officials.

A leading Safeguard opponent, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, declined to estimate how many votes are now lined up against the system. But he said his forces would be ready for a showdown next month.

The DOCTOR Says

Diabetes More Than Lack Of Insulin

The cause of diabetes, once thought to be a deficiency of insulin production by the pancreas, has been found to be more complicated than this. Some diabetics whose onset of the disease occurs after they are 40 appear to have an insulin level in their blood that is above normal.

Dr. Brandstadt

This is explained by the fact that a precursor of insulin called proinsulin is included in the blood insulin estimation, yet this proinsulin will not reduce the blood sugar level. It must be converted into true insulin by another enzyme, which is lacking in these patients.

—:—

TO FURTHER complicate the matter it appears that in a person with a heavy layer of fat the fat competes with the muscle tissue for insulin. Such a person often shows no evidence of diabetes after he loses a substantial amount of fat.

The new oral antidiabetic drug, phenformin, will effectively control the diabetes in these obese persons if they find it next to impossible to reduce.

Other factors causing diabetes are being studied. In some cases the disease may be caused by large doses of benzothiazides and drugs of the cortisone group.

Q — Are there different kinds of diabetes? Can one who has it eat honey?

A — There is a juvenile type, about 25 per cent of all cases, which progresses rapidly to hardening of the arteries and other serious complications unless carefully controlled; and there is a maturity -onset type which accounts for the remaining cases and is generally less severe. A person with diabetes can eat limited amounts of honey and other sweets provided they are counted in his weighed caloric allowance of carbohydrates.

Q — I am a 26-year-old diabetic. I have been taking insulin since I was 5. Would it be possible for me to switch to Orinase?

Thief Obtains $100 In Home

An East Liverpool man told police a thief took $100 in currency from his home during his seven-hour absence Saturday.

Rodney Stull of 1022 Bank St., distribution foreman for the city waterworks department, reported a leather pouch containing four $20 bills and two $10's was taken from a chest in the kitchen at his home while he was absent between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. The pouch also contained a bank book. Stull said the back door of his home was not locked.

Meanwhile, Frank Potts, operator of the Tri-State News Agency on Union St., told officers a thief took money from the porches of 10 homes along W. 3rd St. early Sunday morning. Householders had placed the money outside to pay for Sunday newspapers, he said.

About $3.50 was involved. The money was taken from homes on the route of Frank McKinnon, a newspaper carrier, he said.

Fergy Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs started 40 games last season, top figure in the National League.

Potters Win Regional Title Behind Musuraca, McVay

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The East Liverpool High baseball team hits well so consistently that its attack is almost taken for granted.

No pitcher this year, even the two who beat East Liverpool, has escaped from the powerful bombardment of the Potter bats. Some good hurlers, including Hap Palmer of Steubenville Central and Jeff Steubenville Central and Jeff Inman of Canton South, have been treated rudely.

Bergin Field in Duncan Falls, where the regional tournament was played, is a beautiful field, but short in dimensions. Everything is in play, and the trees, especially in right and center, are easily in reach of the hitters. If East Liverpool played all its games there, the already impressive team batting average would climb still further. The left-handed hitters, of which East Liverpool has four in the starting lineup, would be helped by the prevailing wind to right field.

Frank Dawson provided limousines for transportation of the team to Duncan Falls, and he didn't even know there was a graveyard overlooking the field. One of the cars was dented by a foul ball Saturday. Larry Hisle of the Philadelphia Phillies, while playing for Portsmouth in the regionals in 1965, hit a ball into the cemetery. Quite a clout!

A dedicated contingent of player parents attended both games at Duncan Falls.

AS BASKETBALL fans know, Jerry Christian is the second area star to decide on West Texas State to play college basketball. Sim Hill, an all-stater from Midland, finished his career at West Texas this year.

The fathers of the two boys work together and this was one way Christian got to know about the Texas school. Wichita and Tulsa were two other schools considered by Christian. Hill started his college career at Wichita and ended at West Texas via a junior college.

BY MORGAN, head football coach at Findlay, said at the Buckeye Border Conference banquet at Beaver Local Thursday that Dave Doak, star defensive back at Beaver Local who will attend Findlay this fall, also may be used as an offensive end, as the Oilers are short of personnel at that position.

Morgan also reported that Midland's Jan Samuels is completely recovered from the shoulder injury last season and is ready to take up where he left off two years ago when he starred as a freshman quarterback.

Run In 7th Tops Portsmouth 4-3

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Randy McVay and Jim Musuraca, who had combined to allow Portsmouth to tie the game in the top of the seventh, combined to win the game in the last of the seventh and give East Liverpool the championship of the Philo baseball regional at Bergin Field in Duncan Falls Saturday.

McVay had made two errors and Musuraca had walked in two runs to allow Portsmouth to tie the game at 3-3. In the bottom of the inning, Musuraca led off with a single to left. Tom Chambers lined to shortstop David Sparks, who had Musuraca trapped off first base, but Sparks made a low throw, which got by Randy Reed, who had just moved to the position from right field, and Musuraca took second base. McVay then hit a liner to left center, and there was no chance for the Trojans to make a play on Musuraca as he scored the winning run.

Musuraca, in pitching a complete game, won his seventh of the year without a loss. Also in the spotlight was John Haney, who delivered a two-run single in the fourth to break a scoreless tie.

The win puts the Potters into the state finals, in Jet Stadium in Columbus May 30-31. Miamisburg is reportedly the next foe of East Liverpool.

Portsmouth, entering the contest with a 15-3 mark, was a tough foe, and the game was vtry well played, in contrast to the sometimes sloppy 13-6 conquest of Canton South the day before. East Liverpool is now 16-2 and has won 15 in a row. By being extended the last innig, the Potters kept up their streak of never having scored less than four runs in a game this season.

MUSURACA was helped by two double plays and some other good field, notably a catch by Tom Chambers with the bases loaded to end the near-disastrous seventh inning. "At first I thought the ball might be in the trees", said the fleet Potter centerfield, "but I caught it about five feet away."

The seventh started when third baseman McVay made a bad throw on a grounder by Fred Myers. Jon Daniels laced a single to center and took second on the play at third. Phil Wood grounded to McVay, who checked the runners, but then made another low throw, letting Wood reach base safely. The other runners could not advance, but Musuraca walked Reed on four pitches to narrow the lead to 3-2.

The Potter ace got pinch-hitter Jim Carter on a pop-up, but walked Clancy Parker to force in another run and tie the game. Bill Anderson hit a fly to left, but it was too short for a run to score. Then Sparks hit the long drive that Chambers ran down.

John Cantrell, who had only a 2-1 mark, pitched a good game against the Potters for six innings. Tvler Porginski took the loss in relief. The Potters had men on third base with one out in both the first and second, but Cantrell pitched out of the jams both times. Finally in the fourth East Liverpool broke through.

CHAMBERS beat out a swinging bunt down the third base line. McVay doubled down the left field line and Haney scored both runners with a hit to center. In the sixth the Potters got what at the time seemed to be an insurance run. Haney led off with a hit and was forced by Jim Massey. John Cunningham hit a grounder to second, but the throw for the force play was dropped. Kim Kemple forced Massey at third, but Dan Cunningham singled, scoring his brother.

Musuraca's first jam was in the fourth. Sparks walked and Sam McGraw hit to Cunningham at second base. Sparks hung up, and finally the throw to first was too late to get McGraw, but Sparks was caught at second. Myers singled and McGraw stole third, Myers holding first. Then Cunningham turned a grounder by Daniels into a double-play to end the inning.

In the sixth Portsmouth finally scored. Parker ssingled and Sparks hit a long drive to left center. He attempted to take third on the play, but was cut down Bill Montgomery to Kemple to McVay.

"There was no way I wasn't going to get a hit in tht last of the seventh," said a happy Musuraca afterwards. He was quite mad at himself for his wildness in the top of the inning. He had walked only one man previously, and threw only 79 pitches on the overcast, humid day.

Coach Jim Potts, who was bothered by a kidney ailment earlier in the year, noted that a few more games like Saturday's and he would devtlop ulcers. He hopes to schedule several games for the team in the two weeks until the state finals.

PRINCE ABDICATES. Trainer Johnny Longden (right) announced yesterday that his horse, Majestic Prince, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, will not run in the third leg of the Triple Crown, the Belmont. (UPI Telephoto)

Prince Wins Preakness, Won't Run In Belmont

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Belmont Stakes still is to be run, but when the final jewel is added to racing's Triple Crown on June 7 it will not sparkle as brightly as was expected—Majestic Prince will not be there.

Trainer Johnny Longden says the Prince, with the shot at becoming a Triple Crown king, will not run in the Belmont.

Owner Frank McMahon also says so—but with less conviction.

For a time Saturday it appeared that once again no one would get a shot at the Triple Crown. A foul was claimed against McMahon's unbeaten colt after he finished first in the $182,000 Preakness, but the stewards disallowed it after deliberating for 26 tension-building minutes.

"Boys, I'm taking him home," was the bombshell Longden dropped on newsmen when they appeared at his barn on the Pimlico backstretch Sunday morning to rehash Majestic Prince's head victory over Arts and Letters, who he beat by a neck in the Kentucky Derby.

McMahon, contacted before he left Baltimore, at first said he had reached no decision but later he told The Associated Press by telephone from his home in Florida:

"I am pretty well convinced we are not going to run him. We are awfully close to not going. He is not sick; his condition is fine. He's just lost weight because of the campaign (seven wins this year added to two in 1968)."

Longden also said the power-running chestnut's condition had nothing to do with his wanting to ship to his farm at Riverside, Calif. and return Majestic Prince to the races in late summer or fall. Then he said:

"I've checked back and I can't find any horse that had a tough race in the Derby or Preakness that came out of the Belmont and amounted to a damn. I mean they never run back to their top form."

"Count Fleet was one of them. He was sound when he went into the Belmont. He never raced again after the Belmont."

Count Fleet, who won the Triple Crown in 1943, was ridden by Johnny Longden.

No previous winner of the Derby and Preakness has ever withheld voluntarily from the Belmont, in which just eight colts have clinched the Triple Crown—the last one Citation in 1948.

A record Preakness crowd of 43,259 thrilled to the stretch duel between Majestic Prince and Arts and Letters, almost a carbon copy of their Derby battle, then waited out the foul claims.

Braulio Baeza, who rode the runner-up from Paul Mellon's Rokeby Stable, contended they lost ground on the first turn when they were bothered by Bill Hartack and Majestic Prince. But it was disallowed.

Once the field of 3-year-olds turned for home, it became a two-horse race, as Claiborne Farm's Jay Ray finished four lengths back of Arts and Letters and the Estate of Steven B. Wilson's Top Knight was another four lengths back.

Golden Bears Place Fourth In Regionals

Oak Glen qualified three individuals and three relay teams for the state finals in the regionals at Moundsville Saturday.

Individual qualifiers were Greg Hobbs, third in the 100 in :10.05; Don Mitchell, third in the high hurdles in :15.8; and Tim Crago, second in the high jump at 5-8. Jim Carnes was fourth in the high jump at 5-6 and fourth in the low hurdles in :20.9. The first three places qualified.

The mile relay team of Joe Nemith, Dave Shilling, Crago and Tom McGeehan placed third but set a school record of 3:39.0. The 440 relay team of Rich Sims, McGeehan, Carnes and Hobbs won in :45.65. The same foursome took second in the 880 relay in 1:34.6.

The Golden Bears placed fourth in the team scoring. Parkersburg won with 75, Wheeling had 61, John Marshall 33, Oak Glen 27, Triadelphia 19½, Follansbee 18, Weirton 12½, Wellsburg 11 and Parkersburg South 4. The state finals are Friday and Saturday in Charleston.

Ed Ashcroft Tops Midland For S. Side

South Side Beaver downed Midland 7-2 in a Section 4 baseball game on the winners' field Saturday.

Ed Ashcroft was the winner, allowing only two hits. Sam Laughlin slammed a double. Bob Prodonovich took the loss.

NL Relief Hurlers Fail, Ramos Loses For Pirates

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Relief was just a swallow away for the Chicago Cubs—but Phil Regan's aspirin tablets went down the wrong pipe.

Regan walked pinch hitter Julio Gotay with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth inning Sunday, handing the Houston Astros a 6-5 victory over the Cubs.

The Chicago bullpen ace, beaten for the first time in six decisions, almost pitched out of a bases-loaded, none-out bind before forcing home the winning run with his third walk in the inning.

Regan's surprising control lapse was the lowpoint of a frustrating afternoon for National League relief pitchers, who failed in three other rescue operations.

Pittsburgh's Pedro Ramos and Bob Moose blew a ninth inning lead at Los Angeles, where Len Gabrielson's pinch homer and Wes Parker's two-out bases-loaded single gave the Dodgers a 6-5 nod.

San Francisco's Bob Bolin retired two Philadelphia batters in the ninth, then yielded a single by Dave Watkins and a run-scoring double by Larry Hisle that beat the Giants 9-8.

Atlanta bombed Montreal 8-3 in a rain-shortened game, scoring four wrapup runs in the seventh when Felix Millan, Hank Aaron and Clete Boyer rocked veteran reliever Elroy Face with homers.

St. Louis' Ron Willis and Gary Waslewski proved the exceptions, working out of late inning trouble to protect Dave Giusti's 6-5 victory over San Diego.

Ted Abernathy, Regan's chief cronie in the Cubs' bullpen, took a 5-3 lead into the seventh inning at Houston, but errors by third baseman Ron Santo and right fielder Al Spangler helped the Astros push over one run.

Regan came to the rescue with none out and runners on second and third, got two quick outs and then was victimized by Santo's second error, which allowed the tying run to score.

In the eighth, he walked Curt Blefary, was tagged for a single by Denis Menke and walked Doug Rader, jamming the bases with nobody out. He retired Jesus Alou on a pop up and got Johnny Edwards to tap into a force at the plate, but then lost Gotay, who was batting for pitcher Jim Ray.

Despite the loss, the first place Cubs remained six games ahead of the sinking Pirates in the NL's East Division race.

The Pirates erased a 4-2 deficit when Willie Stargell's double launched a two-run eighth inning rally, then shot in front 5-4 on Stargell's run-scoring double in the top of the ninth.

Ramos, who had come on in the seventh and set down six batters in succession, got another to start the ninth. But Gabrielson poled his first homer of the season and when Willie Crawford followed with a double, Moose was called in from the bullpen.

He got Ted Sizemore to ground out as Crawford moved to third, and walked Willie Davis intentionally. Davis took second without a throw and Andy Kosco drew another walk to fill the bases. Parker then delivered the winning run with a single to right, extending the Pirates' losing streak to five games.

Stanton's 880 Relay Team Gains Finals

Stanton's 880 relay team qualified for the state finals in the regional at Worthington Saturday.

The team of Bob Haught, Jim McCourt, Keith Reese and Dave Olesky placed fourth, turning in a 1:33.9. Canal Winchester won in 1:32.6.

Stanton's mile relay team was fifth. Dan Smith ran a :15.8, his best ever, in the high hurdles, but didn't make the finals. Olesky failed to qualify in the 100 and 220.

The finals start Friday at Ohio State.

W. Beaver Rally Fails, Center Wins

Center nipped Western Beaver 2-1 in a Section 4 baseball game at Center Saturday.

Harrison homored for the winners. Macon was the winner, but needed help from Steve Gulasey when Western threatened in the seventh. Don Traylor and Ron Misorski hit doubles for a run, but pinch-hitter John Beggs hit a line drive that shortstop Mike Zugay made a leaping catch of to end the game with Misorski on third. John Petchel took the loss.

Pepitone Leads Yankees To Sweep Of California

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

This is the kind of slump Joe Pepitone has been in.

The New York first baseman blasted game-winning home runs in both ends of the Yankees' 3-1, 1-0 doubleheader sweep over California Sunday. He had four hits in the twinbill and six in his last eight swings over the weekend.

The spree raised his batting average to all of .254.

The shrunken average is the result of a 2-for-39 slump which had saddled Pepitone until the Angels pulled him out of it.

"During my slump I wasn't even hitting the fast ball down the middle," said Pepitone, "and that's my pitch. I had two cheapie singles and I didn't even hit the ball hard once."

Against the Angels, he hit it hard twice.

His three-run shot in the seventh inning of the opener gave Mel Stottlemyre his sixth victory of the year. In the nightcap, Pepi broke up a scoreless game with his 11th homer on reliever Hoyt Wilhelm's first pitch in the bottom of the ninth.

In other American League games Sunday, Baltimore shut out Kansas City 5-0, Detroit rapped Minnesota 8-2, Seattle pounded Boston 9-6 and Washington won a pair from Chicago, both 3-2. Oakland at Cleveland was rained out.

Despite his surge, Pepitone still isn't sure he's out of the doldrums for good.

"I still don't feet comfortable. I can't find the right stance," he said. "I don't have my timing. I'm overstriding and out in front of the pitch."

But with all those woes, Pepi still admitted: "This was the best day in my career. That really feels good."

Pepitone's first game jolt turned around a 1-0 California lead and came after Bobby Murcer and Jerry Kenney had singled. The nightcap was scoreless until Pepitone unloaded again.

Mike Cuellar pitched a two-hitter and drove in a run with a seventh inning triple as Baltimore blanked Kansas City. Boog Powell hammered a two-run homer for the Orioles.

Baltimore had managed just one hit in six innings against rookie Dick Drago but broke out of the scoreless tie with three in the seventh—two on Dave Johnson's single and outfielder Lou Piniella's error and the third on Cuellar's triple.

Rod Carew and Tony Oliva ran together under Mickey Stanley pop fly and the ball fell for a double, driving in a pair of runs in a four-run Detroit rally which carried the Tigers past Minnesota. Bill Freehan and Tom Matchick, who had singled, both scored as Carew and Oliva lay stunned. Oliva suffered a dislocated index finger.

Carew and Cesar Tovar had stolen home earlier for the Twins. It was Carew's fourth steal of home this season.

Larry Haney, Ray Oyler and pitcher Mike Marshall all slammed home runs and Seattle needed them when a late Boston rally keyed by Carl Yastrzemski's grand slam almost caught the Pilots in the ninth.

Diego Segui relieved Marshall following Yaz' shot and allowed a pair of hits, bringing Boston's tying run to the plate before getting the last out.

Mike Epstein singled home Washington's winning run in the 10th inning of the 3-2 first game and then the Senators completed the sweep by the same score in the nightcap.

Dennis Higgins picked up his eighth and ninth saves of the season by finishing both games.

Washington had dropped nine of 10 games on its Western swing before Sunday's sweep.

Finley, Bartholomay Involved In Casinos

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government records disclose owners of two major league baseball teams, the Atlanta Braves and the Oakland Athletics, have stock ties with Las Vegas gambling casinos.

Baseball historically has frowned on any gambling connections since a World Series scandal half a century ago.

Three officials of the Atlanta Braves, including the club president, William C. Bartholomay, are listed on the board of directors of the Parvin-Dohrmann Co., which owns three Las Vegas hotels and casinos.

The Oakland Athletics owner, Charles O. Finley, bought an estimated $2.7 million of stock in the same firm last month, Nevada records disclosed Friday.

The firm, which also supplies hotel equipment, has been reported under investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The casinos are the Stardust, Fremont and Aladdin.

Three of the firm's seven directors—Batholomay, Delbert W. Coleman, and John J. Louis Jr.—are directors of the Atlanta Braves.

Coleman, a Chicago business executive, led a $10.5 million takeover of the Parvin-Dohrmann Co. last October. He is now chairman of its board of directors.

The stocks that Coleman purchased at $35 a share last fall were still worth $104.50 each on the market Friday despite a drastic plunge in price the last three days.

The stock has plummeted by $33 a share from its close Tuesday at $137.50.

The firm has figured in published reports concerning Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, who is listed as the salaried president of The Albert Parvin Foundation. The foundation's latest available tax records report stock holdings in Parvin-Dohrmann Co.

Justice Abe Fortas resigned from the Supreme Court Thursday under fire for a $20,000 check from the family foundation of jailed financier Louis E. Wolfson.

Baseball traditionally has avoided gambling ties since eight Chicago White Sox players were exposed in court as having agreed to lose the 1919 World Series to Cincinnati.

Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, who became commissioner in the wake of the scandal, banned the "Black Sox" players for life. Landis later forced New York Giants owner Charles Stoneham and manager John McGraw to sell their interests in a Havana, Cuba, race track.

Gambling is legal in Las Vegas, where baseball odds today listed the Braves at 7-2 to win the National League pennant and the Athletics at 4-1 in the American League fight.

Both teams are currently in first place in their division races.

SEC records show Coleman purchased about one-fourth of the total Parvin-Dohrmann stock last fall. He then sold nearly half of his holdings at that time to other investors, including Bartholomay and Louis.

In February, a subsidiary of Parvin-Dohrmann Co. bought the Stardust Hotel and Casino in a $15 million deal. But the Nevada Gaming Control Board this week blocked the plans of the firm to add the Riviera casino and hotel.

Finley purchased his stock last month after the Gaming Control Board ruled that a Swiss investment group, FOF Proprietary Funds, Ltd., couldn't keep its piece of the firm because it had other gambling interests in the Bahamas.

Parvin-Dohrmann officials declined to announce who bought the FOF stock, but the Nevada Gaming Control Board's records showed Friday that the biggest single purchaser was Finley at 30,000 shares.

Gardner Dickinson Wins Colonial Open Golf Play

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Because a friend—he wasn't identified— reneged on a business deal, Gardner Dickinson finally achieved his lifelong goal in golf, a victory in the Colonial National Invitation Tournament.

"I was playing real bad early this year," the gaunt, 41-year-old veteran recalled Sunday after charging in with a 66 for his first victory in 15 tries in this prestigious event.

"And I have this friend who had offered me a job in a business where I could make a lot of money. He told me that when I was ready to quit the town to let him know.

"So I told him I was ready," Dickinson said, then paused.

"Well, he wasn't ready. If he had been, I wouldn't be here today. I guess I've got him to thank for this $25,000."

The little guy, he weighs only 131, used a refound putting touch, some advice from Ben Hogan and steel-wire nerves to capture the event.

"There are other tournaments where you can make more money," he said. "Bigger prizes than $25,000. And winning the Masters, the Open, the PGA, those all can make you money.

"But I always wanted to win this tournament. Maybe it's because this course has eaten me up. But it was Dickinson who dominated the course in the final round, gunning his irons to the small greens on the 7,175 yard, par 70 Colonial Country Club course with rifle accuracy and finishing at 278, two under par.

He had five birdies, with only one putt longer than 15 feet. That was a 25-footer on No. 5, when he got back even with par after a bogey on No. 2, where he buried a ball in a trap.

He put a five iron on the 10th, getting within six feet and breaking out of a four-way tie for the lead with another bird.

An eight iron put him eight feet from the cup on 12 and he holed it, but the tournament was decided on No. 16.

South African Gary Player had rammed in birdie putts of 20 and 30 feet on Nos. 13 and 14 and moved into a share of the top spot. Dickinson was first through 16, and coaxed in a 12-foot putt he said "looked like three miles."

Moments later Player bogeyed the hole from a trap, Dickinson had a two-stroke lead and it was all over. Player birdied the last hole for a 69 and second place at 279. Don January had a final round 70 for third at 280, while Jack Nicklaus, with a last round 71, and New Zealand left-hander Bob Charles, with a 68, tied for fourth at 282.

Arnold Palmer rallied from a third round 80 with a 69 for 290, while defending champion Billy Casper took a 76 for 297. The third round leaders, Billy Maxwell and Australian Bruce Crampton, also had their trouble. Crampton had a 75 for 283 and Maxwell a 78 for 286.

"It started out like a usual round for me," Dickinson said. "I've had a lot of experience and I was just scratching it down the fairway and up to the green. But the longer I played, the better I was hitting the ball. And I got to putting better.

"I was using a new putting stroke, actually one I'd used years ago. I was putting down into the ball more, using more wrist. It seemed to work, at least for 18 holes.

"And I got some tips from Ben on addressing the ball," said the little guy who once was Hogan's assistant and still affects a white cap similar to the one that was Hogan's trademark.

Columbiana Pair In State Finals

The speedy Columbiana High duo of Gary Schmidt and Mark Young each qualified in two events for the state Class A track finals in the regionals at Berea Saturday.

Schmidt won the 100 in :10.1 and the 220 in :23.0. He also anchored the winning 880 relay team. Young won the long jump with 21-2 and was second in the high hurdles.

Connor's Birds Take Top Places

Birds owned by Pat Connor took the first two places in yesterday's East Liverpool Racing Pigeon Club race from Sabina, Ohio.

Wilbur Brookes' birds took the next two places and a Vic Giovenco bird placed fifth.

John Gatrell again had the winning entry in the junior club race. His bird was followed by those of Harry Watkins and Charles Nelson.

The club will race from Sabina again next week.

Indianpolis Qualifying Rained Out

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The weather finally has caught up with the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

For years, the venerable Speedway activities has taken place without wet weather.

But things were changed Saturday and Sunday. Scheduled 10-mile qualifying runs for the 53rd 500-mile race May 30 were rained out entirely.

That had never happened before. A rainout of even the first qualifying day hadn't occurred since 1953.

The top speed for opening day, which is good for the No. 1 pole position and about $20,000 in extra prizes, now won't be registered until next Saturday. If the 33-car starting field is not filled in the 10-mile trials next Saturday and Sunday, there will be extra sessions.

Monte Carlo Grand Prix To G. Hill

MONTE CARLO (AP) — It looked for a while like favored Jackie Stewart of Scotland might deprive Britain's Graham Hill of his fifth Monte Carlo Grand Prix, but Hill was never worried.

"We figured Stewart would burn himself out and that's just what he did," said Hill, who finished the 80-lap test Sunday in one hour, 56 minutes, 59.4 seconds—an average of 77.42 miles per hour.

Stewart, driving a blue Mara Ford, led the first 22 laps, breaking the track record five times, but was forced out on the 23rd lap with broken rear shaft. He was one of eight in the field of 15 who didn't complete the tortuous 105.96-mile circuit.

Piers Courage of Britain finished second. Courage was timed in 1:57:16.7. Third place finisher Joseph Siffert of Switzerland was clocked in 1:57:34.

No United States drivers were among the starters.

Beaver Falls To Honor Broadway Joe Namath

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP) — Since leading the New York Jets to their surprising Super Bowl victory four months ago, Joe Namath has made several trips to this small steel mill city of less than 20,000 inhabitants.

But next Saturday is the trip that counts. It will be Joe Namath Day.

And Mayor Howard Marshall will give Broadway Joe the key to the city.

It will be a full afternoon and evening for Namath who played his high school football here before making fame at Alabama and as the quarterback who gave the Jets their first American Football League championship and a triumph over the Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl game in Miami last Jan. 12.

Larry Bruno, Namath's Beaver Falls High coach, is general chairman of the program which will feature a parade in open cars from Pittsburgh airport 50 miles away. In the evening 1,300 are expected at $10 each for a testimonial dinner in the Geneva College field house.

It will be there that the first Joe Namath Scholarship award winner will be named. Bruno says $1,000 is assured toward the scholarship which will become an annual award to a young Beaver Falls athlete.

One of the features of the Geneva College program will be the showing of a 30-minute color film depicting highlights of the Jets' 16-7 victory over the Colts. The film will be telecast nationally the following day.

Accompanying Namath in the motorcade will be four of his Jet teammates: ends George Sauer and Don Maynard, halfback Bill Mathis and cornerback Johnny Sample.

Jet Coach Weeb Ewbank and Clive Rush, his former assistant and new head coach of the Boston Patriots, will be on hand for the testimonial dinner.

"It will be the biggest day and evening we've ever had in Beaver Falls," says Coach Bruno.

At TOPS Banquet

Bailey Stresses Studies For Hopeful Collegians

Some 65 attended a dinner honoring the Midland Section 6 championship basketball team given by the Midland TOPS Club at the St. Anthony Club Saturday.

Al Bailey, former East Liverpool basketball star and current freshman coach at Duquesne University, spoke. He encouraged academic studies for athletes. He said "All high school athletes can't end up as pros and one day the academic standing will be important." Bailey said he remembered Midland well because the East Liverpool team played them every year when he was in school.

Bailey outlined the steps taken when a college is interested in a high school player. He said the first criterim is talent. Then the scout visits the guidance counselor to check grades. A prospective athlete must have a 1.6 average to play under NCAA rules. This is about a "C" average. He said the scout also visits business people, ministers and the boys' parents.

Mayor Eli Corak gave the welcome. He said no matter where he travels throughout the state, he hears good things about Midland boys. Dr. Charles Henderson, superintendent of Midland schools, introduced school board members Ed Cilli, athletic chairman, and James Harty, education chairman. He cited the TOPS Club for its interest in sports at Midland. He said, "no matter where the games were, rain or shine, members of the club were there to support the team."

Joel Carr, principal of Midland High School, said he is proud of Midland both in sports and academics. He said it is—"Small But Mighty". He noted Midland won the MCA in football, Section 6 in basketball and has a track star who qualified for the state track meet.

Ed Olkowski, basketball coach, introduced the players and Nick Aloi, assistant coach. He said they were under-rated at the beginning of the season, but come through in keeping with the fine Midland tradition.

James Lento, newly elected president of the club, outlined the projects for the year and introduced members. He presented a trophy to Olkowski, who in turn presented it to Carr for the school trophy case. A gift was presented to Anthony Verzilli, past president.

Rey Peduzzi, faculty manager at the high school, was toastmaster.

Roy Walker Qualifies For State Meet

Midland's Roy Walker qualified for the state Class B track championships at Penn State Saturday with a record-breaking :09.8 100-yard dash at Hopewell Friday in the WPIAL title meet.

Dave Grimm of Western Beaver finished third in the two-mile and failed to qualify for the state meet. Chuck Marshall of Southmoreland did a record 9:23.4 in the event and Tom Melonic of Quaker Valley was second.

Walker's time was a personal best, begetting the 9.9 he did last year. He nipped Gary Risch of Freeport, the meet's outstanding athlete, by a yard. Freeport won the team title with 44 points.

Laker Coach Reported Set At Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Free Press said Sunday that Bill van Breda Kolff, coach of the Los Angeles Lakers for the past two years, has been released from his contract and has been hired as the new coach of the Detroit Pistons.

Van Breda Kolff "asked for and received a release from the final year of a three-year contract with the Lakers," the paper said in its Monday editions.

Van Breda Kolff, 46, had been rumored for weeks as the Pistons' top choice to take over the head coaching job from Paul Seymour.

Seymour has said he wanted more time to devote to his family and business interests in Syracuse, N.Y.

"There is nothing final on it yet," Ed Coil, Pistons general manager, said Sunday. "We had hoped to have something done sooner than this, but we expect it to be resolved by the middle of the week."

Van Breda Kolff, reached in Los Angeles, said, "I am still under contract and I can't make any comment.

Orange County Team Dropped By CFL

CHICAGO (AP)—The Continental Football League has declared its Orange County, Calif., franchise inactive. The CFL took the action in a weekend meeting after the franchise at Anaheim, Calif., failed to confirm prior conditional approval for transfer to San Bernandino, Calif.

Man Charged In House Fire

Orville Brewer of 724½ St. Clair Ave. pleaded not guilty today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge he "maliciously injured" a home in W. Church Alley by setting fire to it.

The court set a hearing Thursday morning after Brewer asked an opportunity to obtain counsel.

The charge was filed by Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne in connection with a minor fire Saturday at 11:54 p.m. in a home at 137 W. Church Alley, occupied by the family of Ernest Montgomery. The property is owned by John Kelly of Vine St.

Firemen were summoned to the blaze. They said a living-room curtain was damaged, but the blaze was out on their arrival.

Chief VanDyne and Lt. Paul A. Burson Jr., who apprehended Brewer, charged that the suspect broke a first-bloor window in the home, then reached through the opening and ignited a plastic curtain with a cigaret lighter. A member of the Montgomery family noted the fire almost immediately and stamped on the curtain, extinguiishing the blaze, authorities said.

Continuance Granted In Hit-Skip Charges

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted a continuance until Wednesday in a case in which Robert Stacey of Briar Ln. is charged with failure to stop after his auto was involved in a Dresden Ave. mishap early May 7.

The affidavit was filed by William P. Taylor of 408 Grant St., who alleged his auto was sideswiped by a hit-skip car.

Taylor told the court today the damage to his auto totaled $348. The judge granted the continuance when Taylor and Stacey indicated they were working out an arrangement for Stacey to pay the damages.

Rockefeller On Final Leg Of Long Trip

PANAMA (AP) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, making the seventh and last stop of his fact-finding mission to Central America, has heard Panama ask for a greater role in the operation of the Panama Canal.

The New York governor, who is touring the hemisphere on a special assignment from President Nixon, arrived here Sunday and met with a Panamanian government team headed by Foreign Minister Nander Pitty.

Informants said Pitty made no reference to currently stalemated negotiations between the Unittd States and Panama on a new treaty to regulate the canal. But he asked for a more effective role in its operation.

Rockefeller said future relations between the United States and Panama will "depend importantly on the successful resolution of pending issues regarding the canal."

Before coming to Panama, Rockefeller visited Mexico, Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica. He is scheduled to make three more Latin American trips in the next two months, visiting all the countries except Cuba.

Kenneth Quear, 38, of Bessemer, Pa., forfeited $17.50 for driving the wrong way in a one-way section of Persimmon Alley. He was cited Saturday at 6:37 p.m.

Norman E. Ward, 28, of Smithfield St., whose car was involved in a mishap Saturday on Union St., was fined $10 and costs on a charge of failure to transfer registration within 10 days after purchasing an auto. The court continued a hearing for Mrs. Rebecca Gaines, 24, of RD 3, charged with driving left of center and failure to produce a driver's license. Cited early Sunday after her auto went onto railroad tracks at Virginia Ave., the woman told the court she has a permit but cannot find it.

Ronald Greathouse, 20, of 915 Alton St. was ordered to pay the costs on a charge of walking illegally on a limited access highway—the Freeway. He was cited by the patrol May 11.

About 19 per cent more energy is required to perform a job in noisy surroundings than in quiet. It takes more concentration to accomplish one's business in a noisy room, which means tenser muscles, stepped-up metabolism and increased consumption of oxygen — and this results in greater fatigue.

Storms Hit Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers soaked wide sectors of the nation today after a weekend in which 27 tornadoes touched down on sites across the country.

The latest twisters struck South Carolina Sunday night.

One flattened a supermarket and damaged several houses in Cowpens, site of an American upset victory in the Revolutionary War. The other felled some trees near Greenville. No injuries were reported.

The belt of scattered showers stretched from lower Michigan to Maine down to Florida and Mississippi. Almost two inches fell in Cleveland and 1½ inches doused Birmingham.

Another line of showers reached from Nebraska and the Dakotas to the Pacific Northwest.

Clear skies stretched from the upper Mississippi Valley to the Southern Plains and on across the Southwest.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 34 at Hancock, Mich., to 86 at Needles, Calif.

Court Begins Assault Case

LISBON — David Hoppel of East Liverpool RD 3 testified this morning in Common Pleas Court that Matt I. Marcum, 29, of Glenmoor threatened him Jan. 13 on the Salisbury-Irondale Rd. while his brother, Lawrence David Marcum, pointed a shotgun at him.

He said the brothers told him they wanted their father's tools. A mechanic, the father had been employed by Hoppel, who said he retained his tools when he discharged him because the man owed him money.

Hoppel said the brothers stopped his truck after dark and ordered him out. Two other cars came down the road in a few minutes, Hoppel said, and he took the opportunity to get in his truck and drive away.

The April Grand Jury indicted Matt Marcum on a charge with assault with a dangerous weapon.

On the jury sworn in today by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard are Elsie Golden, Robert Nicholson and Roward E. Tice, East Liverpool; Janice A. Steitz, Lisbon; Harold E. John, Hanoverton; Edith Hadley, East Palestine; Mary E. Simmons, Rogers, and Theresa Fithian, Raymond H. Ernst, Virgil Klepper, Carrie Camp and Orville Hoover, Salem. Eunice Croft, Wellsville, is the alternate.

Potters Win Regional Title Behind Musuraca, McVay

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The East Liverpool High baseball team hits well so consistently that its attack is almost taken for granted.

No pitcher this year, even the two who beat East Liverpool, has escaped from the powerful bombardment of the Potter bats. Some good hurlers, including Hap Palmer of Steubenville Central and Jeff Steubenville Central and Jeff Inman of Canton South, have been treated rudely.

Bergin Field in Duncan Falls, where the regional tournament was played, is a beautiful field, but short in dimensions. Everything is in play, and the trees, especially in right and center, are easily in reach of the hitters. If East Liverpool played all its games there, the already impressive team batting average would climb still further. The left-handed hitters, of which East Liverpool has four in the starting lineup, would be helped by the prevailing wind to right field.

Frank Dawson provided limousines for transportation of the team to Duncan Falls, and he didn't even know there was a graveyard overlooking the field. One of the cars was dented by a foul ball Saturday. Larry Hisle of the Philadelphia Phillies, while playing for Portsmouth in the regionals in 1965, hit a ball into the cemetery. Quite a clout!

A dedicated contingent of player parents attended both games at Duncan Falls.

AS BASKETBALL fans know, Jerry Christian is the second area star to decide on West Texas State to play college basketball. Sim Hill, an all-stater from Midland, finished his career at West Texas this year.

The fathers of the two boys work together and this was one way Christian got to know about the Texas school. Wichita and Tulsa were two other schools considered by Christian. Hill started his college career at Wichita and ended at West Texas via a junior college.

BY MORGAN, head football coach at Findlay, said at the Buckeye Border Conference banquet at Beaver Local Thursday that Dave Doak, star defensive back at Beaver Local who will attend Findlay this fall, also may be used as an offensive end, as the Oilers are short of personnel at that position.

Morgan also reported that Midland's Jan Samuels is completely recovered from the shoulder injury last season and is ready to take up where he left off two years ago when he starred as a freshman quarterback.

Run In 7th Tops Portsmouth 4-3

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Randy McVay and Jim Musuraca, who had combined to allow Portsmouth to tie the game in the top of the seventh, combined to win the game in the last of the seventh and give East Liverpool the championship of the Philo baseball regional at Bergin Field in Duncan Falls Saturday.

McVay had made two errors and Musuraca had walked in two runs to allow Portsmouth to tie the game at 3-3. In the bottom of the inning, Musuraca led off with a single to left. Tom Chambers lined to shortstop David Sparks, who had Musuraca trapped off first base, but Sparks made a low throw, which got by Randy Reed, who had just moved to the position from right field, and Musuraca took second base. McVay then hit a liner to left center, and there was no chance for the Trojans to make a play on Musuraca as he scored the winning run.

Musuraca, in pitching a complete game, won his seventh of the year without a loss. Also in the spotlight was John Haney, who delivered a two-run single in the fourth to break a scoreless tie.

The win puts the Potters into the state finals, in Jet Stadium in Columbus May 30-31. Miamisburg is reportedly the next foe of East Liverpool.

Portsmouth, entering the contest with a 15-3 mark, was a tough foe, and the game was vtry well played, in contrast to the sometimes sloppy 13-6 conquest of Canton South the day before. East Liverpool is now 16-2 and has won 15 in a row. By being extended the last innnig, the Potters kept up their streak of never having scored less than four runs in a game this season.

MUSURACA was helped by two double plays and some other good field, notably a catch by Tom Chambers with the bases loaded to end the near-disastrous seventh inning. "At first I thought the ball might be in the trees", said the fleet Potter centerfield, "but I caught it about five feet away."

The seventh started when third baseman McVay made a bad throw on a grounder by Fred Myers. Jon Daniels laced a single to center and took second on the play at third. Phil Wood grounded to McVay, who checked the runners, but then made another low throw, letting Wood reach base safely. The other runners could not advance, but Musuraca walked Reed on four pitches to narrow the lead to 3-2.

The Potter ace got pinch-hitter Jim Carter on a pop-up, but walked Clancy Parker to force in another run and tie the game. Bill Anderson hit a fly to left, but it was too short for a run to score. Then Sparks hit the long drive that Chambers ran down.

John Cantrell, who had only a 2-1 mark, pitched a good game against the Potters for six innings. Tvler Porginski took the loss in relief. The Potters had men on third base with one out in both the first and second, but Cantrell pitched out of the jams both times. Finally in the fourth East Liverpool broke through.

CHAMBERS beat out a swinging bunt down the third base line. McVay doubled down the left field line and Haney scored both runners with a hit to center. In the sixth the Potters got what at the time seemed to be an insurance run. Haney led off with a hit and was forced by Jim Massey. John Cunningham hit a grounder to second, but the throw for the force play was dropped. Kim Kemple forced Massey at third, but Dan Cunningham singled, scoring his brother.

Musuraca's first jam was in the fourth. Sparks walked and Sam McGraw hit to Cunningham at second base. Sparks hung up, and finally the throw to first was too late to get McGraw, but Sparks was caught at second. Myers singled and McGraw stole third, Myers holding first. Then Cunningham turned a grounder by Daniels into a double-play to end the inning.

In the sixth Portsmouth finally scored. Parker ssingled and Sparks hit a long drive to left center. He attempted to take third on the play, but was cut down Bill Montgomery to Kemple to McVay.

"There was no way I wasn't going to get a hit in tht last of the seventh," said a happy Musuraca afterwards. He was quite mad at himself for his wildness in the top of the inning. He had walked only one man previously, and threw only 79 pitches on the overcast, humid day.

Coach Jim Potts, who was bothered by a kidney ailment earlier in the year, noted that a few more games like Saturday's and he would devtlop ulcers. He hopes to schedule several games for the team in the two weeks until the state finals.

Prince Wins Preakness, Won't Run In Belmont

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Belmont Stakes still is to be run, but when the final jewel is added to racing's Triple Crown on June 7 it will not sparkle as brightly as was expected—Majestic Prince will not be there.

Trainer Johnny Longden says the Prince, with the shot at becoming a Triple Crown king, will not run in the Belmont.

Owner Frank McMahon also says so—but with less conviction.

For a time Saturday it appeared that once again no one would get a shot at the Triple Crown. A foul was claimed against McMahon's unbeaten colt after he finished first in the $182,000 Preakness, but the stewards disallowed it after deliberating for 26 tension-building minutes.

"Boys, I'm taking him home," was the bombshell Longden dropped on newsmen when they appeared at his barn on the Pimlico backstretch Sunday morning to rehash Majestic Prince's head victory over Arts and Letters, who he beat by a neck in the Kentucky Derby.

McMahon, contacted before he left Baltimore, at first said he had reached no decision but later he told The Associated Press by telephone from his home in Florida:

"I am pretty well convinced we are not going to run him. We are awfully close to not going. He is not sick; his condition is fine. He's just lost weight because of the campaign (seven wins this year added to two in 1968)."

Longden also said the power-running chestnut's condition had nothing to do with his wanting to ship to his farm at Riverside, Calif. and return Majestic Prince to the races in late summer or fall. Then he said:

"I've checked back and I can't find any horse that had a tough race in the Derby or Preakness that came out of the Belmont and amounted to a damn. I mean they never run back to their top form."

"Count Fleet was one of them. He was sound when he went into the Belmont. He never raced again after the Belmont."

Count Fleet, who won the Triple Crown in 1943, was ridden by Johnny Longden.

No previous winner of the Derby and Preakness has ever withheld voluntarily from the Belmont, in which just eight colts have clinched the Triple Crown—the last one Citation in 1948.

A record Preakness crowd of 43,259 thrilled to the stretch duel between Majestic Prince and Arts and Letters, almost a carbon copy of their Derby battle, then waited out the foul claims.

Braulio Baeza, who rode the runner-up from Paul Mellon's Rokeby Stable, contended they lost ground on the first turn when they were bothered by Bill Hartack and Majestic Prince. But it was disallowed.

Once the field of 3-year-olds turned for home, it became a two-horse race, as Claiborne Farm's Jay Ray finished four lengths back of Arts and Letters and the Estate of Steven B. Wilson's Top Knight was another four lengths back.

Golden Bears Place Fourth In Regionals

Oak Glen qualified three individuals and three relay teams for the state finals in the regionals at Moundsville Saturday.

Individual qualifiers were Greg Hobbs, third in the 100 in :10.05; Don Mitchell, third in the high hurdles in :15.8; and Tim Crago, second in the high jump at 5-8. Jim Carnes was fourth in the high jump at 5-6 and fourth in the low hurdles in :20.9. The first three places qualified.

The mile relay team of Joe Nemith, Dave Shilling, Crago and Tom McGeehan placed third but set a school record of 3:39.0. The 440 relay team of Rich Sims, McGeehan, Carnes and Hobbs won in :45.65. The same foursome took second in the 880 relay in 1:34.6.

The Golden Bears placed fourth in the team scoring. Parkersburg won with 75, Wheeling had 61, John Marshall 33, Oak Glen 27, Triadelphia 19½, Follansbee 18, Weirton 12½, Wellsburg 11 and Parkersburg South 4. The state finals are Friday and Saturday in Charleston.

Ed Ashcroft Tops Midland For S. Side

South Side Beaver downed Midland 7-2 in a Section 4 baseball game on the winners' field Saturday.

Ed Ashcroft was the winner, allowing only two hits. Sam Laughlin slammed a double. Bob Prodonovich took the loss.

NL Relief Hurlers Fail, Ramos Loses For Pirates

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Relief was just a swallow away for the Chicago Cubs—but Phil Regan's aspirin tablets went down the wrong pipe.

Regan walked pinch hitter Julio Gotay with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth inning Sunday, handing the Houston Astros a 6-5 victory over the Cubs.

The Chicago bullpen ace, beaten for the first time in six decisions, almost pitched out of a bases-loaded, none-out bind before forcing home the winning run with his third walk in the inning.

Regan's surprising control lapse was the lowpoint of a frustrating afternoon for National League relief pitchers, who failed in three other rescue operations.

Pittsburgh's Pedro Ramos and Bob Moose blew a ninth inning lead at Los Angeles, where Len Gabrielson's pinch homer and Wes Parker's two-out bases-loaded single gave the Dodgers a 6-5 nod.

San Francisco's Bob Bolin retired two Philadelphia batters in the ninth, then yielded a single by Dave Watkins and a run-scoring double by Larry Hisle that beat the Giants 9-8.

Atlanta bombed Montreal 8-3 in a rain-shortened game, scoring four wrapup runs in the seventh when Felix Millan, Hank Aaron and Clete Boyer rocked veteran reliever Elroy Face with homers.

St. Louis' Ron Willis and Gary Waslewski proved the exceptions, working out of late inning trouble to protect Dave Giusti's 6-5 victory over San Diego.

Ted Abernathy, Regan's chief cronie in the Cubs' bullpen, took a 5-3 lead into the seventh inning at Houston, but errors by third baseman Ron Santo and right fielder Al Spangler helped the Astros push over one run.

Regan came to the rescue with none out and runners on second and third, got two quick outs and then was victimized by Santo's second error, which allowed the tying run to score.

In the eighth, he walked Curt Blefary, was tagged for a single by Denis Menke and walked Doug Rader, jamming the bases with nobody out. He retired Jesus Alou on a pop up and got Johnny Edwards to tap into a force at the plate, but then lost Gotay, who was batting for pitcher Jim Ray.

Despite the loss, the first place Cubs remained six games ahead of the sinking Pirates in the NL's East Division race.

The Pirates erased a 4-2 deficit when Willie Stargell's double launched a two-run eighth inning rally, then shot in front 5-4 on Stargell's run-scoring double in the top of the ninth.

Ramos, who had come on in the seventh and set down six batters in succession, got another to start the ninth. But Gabrielson poled his first homer of the season and when Willie Crawford followed with a double, Moose was called in from the bullpen.

He got Ted Sizemore to ground out as Crawford moved to third, and walked Willie Davis intentionally. Davis took second without a throw and Andy Kosco drew another walk to fill the bases. Parker then delivered the winning run with a single to right, extending the Pirates' losing streak to five games.

Stanton's 880 Relay Team Gains Finals

Stanton's 880 relay team qualified for the state finals in the regional at Worthington Saturday.

The team of Bob Haught, Jim McCourt, Keith Reese and Dave Olesky placed fourth, turning in a 1:33.9. Canal Winchester won in 1:32.6.

Stanton's mile relay team was fifth. Dan Smith ran a :15.8, his best ever, in the high hurdles, but didn't make the finals. Olesky failed to qualify in the 100 and 220.

The finals start Friday at Ohio State.

W. Beaver Rally Fails, Center Wins

Center nipped Western Beaver 2-1 in a Section 4 baseball game at Center Saturday.

Harrison homored for the winners. Macon was the winner, but needed help from Steve Gulasey when Western threatened in the seventh. Don Traylor and Ron Misorski hit doubles for a run, but pinch-hitter John Beggs hit a line drive that shortstop Mike Zugay made a leaping catch of to end the game with Misorski on third. John Petchel took the loss.

Pepitone Leads Yankees To Sweep Of California

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

This is the kind of slump Joe Pepitone has been in.

The New York first baseman blasted game-winning home runs in both ends of the Yankees' 3-1, 1-0 doubleheader sweep over California Sunday. He had four hits in the twinbill and six in his last eight swings over the weekend.

The spree raised his batting average to all of .254.

The shrunken average is the result of a 2-for-39 slump which had saddled Pepitone until the Angels pulled him out of it.

"During my slump I wasn't even hitting the fast ball down the middle," said Pepitone, "and that's my pitch. I had two cheapie singles and I didn't even hit the ball hard once."

Against the Angels, he hit it hard twice.

His three-run shot in the seventh inning of the opener gave Mel Stottlemyre his sixth victory of the year. In the nightcap, Pepi broke up a scoreless game with his 11th homer on reliever Hoyt Wilhelm's first pitch in the bottom of the ninth.

In other American League games Sunday, Baltimore shut out Kansas City 5-0, Detroit rapped Minnesota 8-2, Seattle pounded Boston 9-6 and Washington won a pair from Chicago, both 3-2. Oakland at Cleveland was rained out.

Despite his surge, Pepitone still isn't sure he's out of the doldrums for good.

"I still don't feet comfortable. I can't find the right stance," he said. "I don't have my timing. I'm overstriding and out in front of the pitch."

But with all those woes, Pepi still admitted: "This was the best day in my career. That really feels good."

Pepitone's first game jolt turned around a 1-0 California lead and came after Bobby Murcer and Jerry Kenney had singled. The nightcap was scoreless until Pepitone unloaded again.

Mike Cuellar pitched a two-hitter and drove in a run with a seventh inning triple as Baltimore blanked Kansas City. Boog Powell hammered a two-run homer for the Orioles.

Baltimore had managed just one hit in six innings against rookie Dick Drago but broke out of the scoreless tie with three in the seventh—two on Dave Johnson's single and outfielder Lou Piniella's error and the third on Cuellar's triple.

Rod Carew and Tony Oliva ran together under Mickey Stanley pop fly and the ball fell for a double, driving in a pair of runs in a four-run Detroit rally which carried the Tigers past Minnesota. Bill Freehan and Tom Matchick, who had singled, both scored as Carew and Oliva lay stunned. Oliva suffered a dislocated index finger.

Carew and Cesar Tovar had stolen home earlier for the Twins. It was Carew's fourth steal of home this season.

Larry Haney, Ray Oyler and pitcher Mike Marshall all slammed home runs and Seattle needed them when a late Boston rally keyed by Carl Yastrzemski's grand slam almost caught the Pilots in the ninth.

Diego Segui relieved Marshall following Yaz' shot and allowed a pair of hits, bringing Boston's tying run to the plate before getting the last out.

Mike Epstein singled home Washington's winning run in the 10th inning of the 3-2 first game and then the Senators completed the sweep by the same score in the nightcap.

Dennis Higgins picked up his eighth and ninth saves of the season by finishing both games.

Washington had dropped nine of 10 games on its Western swing before Sunday's sweep.

Finley, Bartholomay Involved In Casinos

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government records disclose owners of two major league baseball teams, the Atlanta Braves and the Oakland Athletics, have stock ties with Las Vegas gambling casinos.

Baseball historically has frowned on any gambling connections since a World Series scandal half a century ago.

Three officials of the Atlanta Braves, including the club president, William C. Bartholomay, are listed on the board of directors of the Parvin-Dohrmann Co., which owns three Las Vegas hotels and casinos.

The Oakland Athletics owner, Charles O. Finley, bought an estimated $2.7 million of stock in the same firm last month, Nevada records disclosed Friday.

The firm, which also supplies hotel equipment, has been reported under investigation by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The casinos are the Stardust, Fremont and Aladdin.

Three of the firm's seven directors—Batholomay, Delbert W. Coleman, and John J. Louis Jr.—are directors of the Atlanta Braves.

Coleman, a Chicago business executive, led a $10.5 million takeover of the Parvin-Dohrmann Co. last October. He is now chairman of its board of directors.

The stocks that Coleman purchased at $35 a share last fall were still worth $104.50 each on the market Friday despite a drastic plunge in price the last three days.

The stock has plummeted by $33 a share from its close Tuesday at $137.50.

The firm has figured in published reports concerning Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, who is listed as the salaried president of The Albert Parvin Foundation. The foundation's latest available tax records report stock holdings in Parvin-Dohrmann Co.

Justice Abe Fortas resigned from the Supreme Court Thursday under fire for a $20,000 check from the family foundation of jailed financier Louis E. Wolfson.

Baseball traditionally has avoided gambling ties since eight Chicago White Sox players were exposed in court as having agreed to lose the 1919 World Series to Cincinnati.

Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, who became commissioner in the wake of the scandal, banned the "Black Sox" players for life. Landis later forced New York Giants owner Charles Stoneham and manager John McGraw to sell their interests in a Havana, Cuba, race track.

Gambling is legal in Las Vegas, where baseball odds today listed the Braves at 7-2 to win the National League pennant and the Athletics at 4-1 in the American League fight.

Both teams are currently in first place in their division races.

SEC records show Coleman purchased about one-fourth of the total Parvin-Dohrmann stock last fall. He then sold nearly half of his holdings at that time to other investors, including Bartholomay and Louis.

In February, a subsidiary of Parvin-Dohrmann Co. bought the Stardust Hotel and Casino in a $15 million deal. But the Nevada Gaming Control Board this week blocked the plans of the firm to add the Riviera casino and hotel.

Finley purchased his stock last month after the Gaming Control Board ruled that a Swiss investment group, FOF Proprietary Funds, Ltd., couldn't keep its piece of the firm because it had other gambling interests in the Bahamas.

Parvin-Dohrmann officials declined to announce who bought the FOF stock, but the Nevada Gaming Control Board's records showed Friday that the biggest single purchaser was Finley at 30,000 shares.

Gardner Dickinson Wins Colonial Open Golf Play

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Because a friend—he wasn't identified— reneged on a business deal, Gardner Dickinson finally achieved his lifelong goal in golf, a victory in the Colonial National Invitation Tournament.

"I was playing real bad early this year," the gaunt, 41-year-old veteran recalled Sunday after charging in with a 66 for his first victory in 15 tries in this prestigious event.

"And I have this friend who had offered me a job in a business where I could make a lot of money. He told me that when I was ready to quit the town to let him know.

"So I told him I was ready," Dickinson said, then paused.

"Well, he wasn't ready. If he had been, I wouldn't be here today. I guess I've got him to thank for this $25,000."

The little guy, he weighs only 131, used a refound putting touch, some advice from Ben Hogan and steel-wire nerves to capture the event.

"There are other tournaments where you can make more money," he said. "Bigger prizes than $25,000. And winning the Masters, the Open, the PGA, those all can make you money.

"But I always wanted to win this tournament. Maybe it's because this course has eaten me up. But it was Dickinson who dominated the course in the final round, gunning his irons to the small greens on the 7,175 yard, par 70 Colonial Country Club course with rifle accuracy and finishing at 278, two under par.

He had five birdies, with only one putt longer than 15 feet. That was a 25-footer on No. 5, when he got back even with par after a bogey on No. 2, where he buried a ball in a trap.

He put a five iron on the 10th, getting within six feet and breaking out of a four-way tie for the lead with another bird.

An eight iron put him eight feet from the cup on 12 and he holed it, but the tournament was decided on No. 16.

South African Gary Player had rammed in birdie putts of 20 and 30 feet on Nos. 13 and 14 and moved into a share of the top spot. Dickinson was first through 16, and coaxed in a 12-foot putt he said "looked like three miles."

Moments later Player bogeyed the hole from a trap, Dickinson had a two-stroke lead and it was all over. Player birdied the last hole for a 69 and second place at 279. Don January had a final round 70 for third at 280, while Jack Nicklaus, with a last round 71, and New Zealand left-hander Bob Charles, with a 68, tied for fourth at 282.

Arnold Palmer rallied from a third round 80 with a 69 for 290, while defending champion Billy Casper took a 76 for 297. The third round leaders, Billy Maxwell and Australian Bruce Crampton, also had their trouble. Crampton had a 75 for 283 and Maxwell a 78 for 286.

"It started out like a usual round for me," Dickinson said. "I've had a lot of experience and I was just scratching it down the fairway and up to the green. But the longer I played, the better I was hitting the ball. And I got to putting better.

"I was using a new putting stroke, actually one I'd used years ago. I was putting down into the ball more, using more wrist. It seemed to work, at least for 18 holes.

"And I got some tips from Ben on addressing the ball," said the little guy who once was Hogan's assistant and still affects a white cap similar to the one that was Hogan's trademark.

Columbiana Pair In State Finals

The speedy Columbiana High duo of Gary Schmidt and Mark Young each qualified in two events for the state Class A track finals in the regionals at Berea Saturday.

Schmidt won the 100 in :10.1 and the 220 in :23.0. He also anchored the winning 880 relay team. Young won the long jump with 21-2 and was second in the high hurdles.

Connor's Birds Take Top Places

Birds owned by Pat Connor took the first two places in yesterday's East Liverpool Racing Pigeon Club race from Sabina, Ohio.

Wilbur Brookes' birds took the next two places and a Vic Giovenco bird placed fifth.

John Gatrell again had the winning entry in the junior club race. His bird was followed by those of Harry Watkins and Charles Nelson.

The club will race from Sabina again next week.

Indianpolis Qualifying Rained Out

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The weather finally has caught up with the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

For years, the venerable Speedway activities has taken place without wet weather.

But things were changed Saturday and Sunday. Scheduled 10-mile qualifying runs for the 53rd 500-mile race May 30 were rained out entirely.

That had never happened before. A rainout of even the first qualifying day hadn't occurred since 1953.

The top speed for opening day, which is good for the No. 1 pole position and about $20,000 in extra prizes, now won't be registered until next Saturday. If the 33-car starting field is not filled in the 10-mile trials next Saturday and Sunday, there will be extra sessions.

Monte Carlo Grand Prix To G. Hill

MONTE CARLO (AP) — It looked for a while like favored Jackie Stewart of Scotland might deprive Britain's Graham Hill of his fifth Monte Carlo Grand Prix, but Hill was never worried.

"We figured Stewart would burn himself out and that's just what he did," said Hill, who finished the 80-lap test Sunday in one hour, 56 minutes, 59.4 seconds—an average of 77.42 miles per hour.

Stewart, driving a blue Mara Ford, led the first 22 laps, breaking the track record five times, but was forced out on the 23rd lap with broken rear shaft. He was one of eight in the field of 15 who didn't complete the tortuous 105.96-mile circuit.

Piers Courage of Britain finished second. Courage was timed in 1:57:16.7. Third place finisher Joseph Siffert of Switzerland was clocked in 1:57:34.

No United States drivers were among the starters.

Beaver Falls To Honor Broadway Joe Namath

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP) — Since leading the New York Jets to their surprising Super Bowl victory four months ago, Joe Namath has made several trips to this small steel mill city of less than 20,000 inhabitants.

But next Saturday is the trip that counts. It will be Joe Namath Day.

And Mayor Howard Marshall will give Broadway Joe the key to the city.

It will be a full afternoon and evening for Namath who played his high school football here before making fame at Alabama and as the quarterback who gave the Jets their first American Football League championship and a triumph over the Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl game in Miami last Jan. 12.

Larry Bruno, Namath's Beaver Falls High coach, is general chairman of the program which will feature a parade in open cars from Pittsburgh airport 50 miles away. In the evening 1,300 are expected at $10 each for a testimonial dinner in the Geneva College field house.

It will be there that the first Joe Namath Scholarship award winner will be named. Bruno says $1,000 is assured toward the scholarship which will become an annual award to a young Beaver Falls athlete.

One of the features of the Geneva College program will be the showing of a 30-minute color film depicting highlights of the Jets' 16-7 victory over the Colts. The film will be telecast nationally the following day.

Accompanying Namath in the motorcade will be four of his Jet teammates: ends George Sauer and Don Maynard, halfback Bill Mathis and cornerback Johnny Sample.

Jet Coach Weeb Ewbank and Clive Rush, his former assistant and new head coach of the Boston Patriots, will be on hand for the testimonial dinner.

"It will be the biggest day and evening we've ever had in Beaver Falls," says Coach Bruno.

Bailey Stresses Studies For Hopeful Collegians

Some 65 attended a dinner honoring the Midland Section 6 championship basketball team given by the Midland TOPS Club at the St. Anthony Club Saturday.

Al Bailey, former East Liverpool basketball star and current freshman coach at Duquesne University, spoke. He encouraged academic studies for athletes. He said "All high school athletes can't end up as pros and one day the academic standing will be important." Bailey said he remembered Midland well because the East Liverpool team played them every year when he was in school.

Bailey outlined the steps taken when a college is interested in a high school player. He said the first criterim is talent. Then the scout visits the guidance counselor to check grades. A prospective athlete must have a 1.6 average to play under NCAA rules. This is about a "C" average. He said the scout also visits business people, ministers and the boys' parents.

Mayor Eli Corak gave the welcome. He said no matter where he travels throughout the state, he hears good things about Midland boys. Dr. Charles Henderson, superintendent of Midland schools, introduced school board members Ed Cilli, athletic chairman, and James Harty, education chairman. He cited the TOPS Club for its interest in sports at Midland. He said, "no matter where the games were, rain or shine, members of the club were there to support the team."

Joel Carr, principal of Midland High School, said he is proud of Midland both in sports and academics. He said it is—"Small But Mighty". He noted Midland won the MCA in football, Section 6 in basketball and has a track star who qualified for the state track meet.

Ed Olkowski, basketball coach, introduced the players and Nick Aloi, assistant coach. He said they were under-rated at the beginning of the season, but come through in keeping with the fine Midland tradition.

James Lento, newly elected president of the club, outlined the projects for the year and introduced members. He presented a trophy to Olkowski, who in turn presented it to Carr for the school trophy case. A gift was presented to Anthony Verzilli, past president.

Rey Peduzzi, faculty manager at the high school, was toastmaster.

Laker Coach Reported Set At Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Free Press said Sunday that Bill van Breda Kolff, coach of the Los Angeles Lakers for the past two years, has been released from his contract and has been hired as the new coach of the Detroit Pistons.

Van Breda Kolff "asked for and received a release from the final year of a three-year contract with the Lakers," the paper said in its Monday editions.

Van Breda Kolff, 46, had been rumored for weeks as the Pistons' top choice to take over the head coaching job from Paul Seymour.

Seymour has said he wanted more time to devote to his family and business interests in Syracuse, N.Y.

"There is nothing final on it yet," Ed Coil, Pistons general manager, said Sunday. "We had hoped to have something done sooner than this, but we expect it to be resolved by the middle of the week."

Van Breda Kolff, reached in Los Angeles, said, "I am still under contract and I can't make any comment.

Man Charged In House Fire

Orville Brewer of 724½ St. Clair Ave. pleaded not guilty today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge he "maliciously injured" a home in W. Church Alley by setting fire to it.

The court set a hearing Thursday morning after Brewer asked an opportunity to obtain counsel.

The charge was filed by Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne in connection with a minor fire Saturday at 11:54 p.m. in a home at 137 W. Church Alley, occupied by the family of Ernest Montgomery. The property is owned by John Kelly of Vine St.

Firemen were summoned to the blaze. They said a living-room curtain was damaged, but the blaze was out on their arrival.

Chief VanDyne and Lt. Paul A. Burson Jr., who apprehended Brewer, charged that the suspect broke a first-bloor window in the home, then reached through the opening and ignited a plastic curtain with a cigaret lighter. A member of the Montgomery family noted the fire almost immediately and stamped on the curtain, extinguiishing the blaze, authorities said.

Roy Walker Qualifies For State Meet

Midland's Roy Walker qualified for the state Class B track championships at Penn State Saturday with a record-breaking :09.8 100-yard dash at Hopewell Friday in the WPIAL title meet.

Dave Grimm of Western Beaver finished third in the two-mile and failed to qualify for the state meet. Chuck Marshall of Southmoreland did a record 9:23.4 in the event and Tom Melonic of Quaker Valley was second.

Walker's time was a personal best, begetting the 9.9 he did last year. He nipped Gary Risch of Freeport, the meet's outstanding athlete, by a yard. Freeport won the team title with 44 points.

Continuance Granted In Hit-Skip Charges

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted a continuance until Wednesday in a case in which Robert Stacey of Briar Ln. is charged with failure to stop after his auto was involved in a Dresden Ave. mishap early May 7.

Taylor told the court today the damage to his auto totaled $348. The judge granted the continuance when Taylor and Stacey indicated they were working out an arrangement for Stacey to pay the damages.

Rockefeller On Final Leg Of Long Trip

PANAMA (AP) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, making the seventh and last stop of his fact-finding mission to Central America, has heard Panama ask for a greater role in the operation of the Panama Canal.

The New York governor, who is touring the hemisphere on a special assignment from President Nixon, arrived here Sunday and met with a Panamanian government team headed by Foreign Minister Nander Pitty.

Informants said Pitty made no reference to currently stalemated negotiations between the Unittd States and Panama on a new treaty to regulate the canal. But he asked for a more effective role in its operation.

Rockefeller said future relations between the United States and Panama will "depend importantly on the successful resolution of pending issues regarding the canal."

Before coming to Panama, Rockefeller visited Mexico, Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica. He is scheduled to make three more Latin American trips in the next two months, visiting all the countries except Cuba.

Storms Hit Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers soaked wide sectors of the nation today after a weekend in which 27 tornadoes touched down on sites across the country.

The latest twisters struck South Carolina Sunday night.

One flattened a supermarket and damaged several houses in Cowpens, site of an American upset victory in the Revolutionary War. The other felled some trees near Greenville. No injuries were reported.

The belt of scattered showers stretched from lower Michigan to Maine down to Florida and Mississippi. Almost two inches fell in Cleveland and 1½ inches doused Birmingham.

Another line of showers reached from Nebraska and the Dakotas to the Pacific Northwest.

Clear skies stretched from the upper Mississippi Valley to the Southern Plains and on across the Southwest.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 34 at Hancock, Mich., to 86 at Needles, Calif.

Court Begins Assault Case

LISBON — David Hoppel of East Liverpool RD 3 testified this morning in Common Pleas Court that Matt I. Marcum, 29, of Glenmoor threatened him Jan. 13 on the Salisbury-Irondale Rd. while his brother, Lawrence David Marcum, pointed a shotgun at him.

He said the brothers told him they wanted their father's tools. A mechanic, the father had been employed by Hoppel, who said he retained his tools when he discharged him because the man owed him money.

Hoppel said the brothers stopped his truck after dark and ordered him out. Two other cars came down the road in a few minutes, Hoppel said, and he took the opportunity to get in his truck and drive away.

The April Grand Jury indicted Matt Marcum on a charge with assault with a dangerous weapon.

On the jury sworn in today by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard are Elsie Golden, Robert Nicholson and Roward E. Tice, East Liverpool; Janice A. Steitz, Lisbon; Harold E. John, Hanoverton; Edith Hadley, East Palestine; Mary E. Simmons, Rogers, and Theresa Fithian, Raymond H. Ernst, Virgil Klepper, Carrie Camp and Orville Hoover, Salem. Eunice Croft, Wellsville, is the alternate.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, May 19, the 139th day of 1969. There are 226 days left in the year.

On this date in 1536, the second queen of England's King Henry VIII, Anne Boleyn, was beheaded in London.

In 1795, the Baltimore philanthropist, John Hopkins, was born.

In 1876, a centennial exposition opened in Philadelphia.

In 1941, during World War II, Italian troops surrendered to the British in the mountains of northern Ethiopia.

A Junior Editors Quiz About STOCKINGS

QUESTION: Why didn't women wear gay stockings long ago?

* * *

ANSWER: The ancient Egyptians, Greeks and Romans, living in a warm climate, had little need for stockings. The stocking idea seems to have originated in the East. Long pantaloons, half stockings and half trousers, were worn by many Asiatic peoples, and these came to influence early Western clothing styles. At upper left we show the full man's stockings (called hose) worn in the Medieval period. It was the men, with their more active lives, who wore the stockings. The stay-at-home women were draped in voluminous skirts and remained so for hundreds of years. After 1600, men's long tight hose became divided into upper and lower hose; the upper turned into knee length breeches, the lower remained as stockings. Later, simpler styles brought in the long trousers men wear today. Women's voluminous dresses hung on until the period when women began to lead the same active lives as men. Long clumsy skirts were in the way and became shorter. And women began to wear the long stockings men used in the Medieval period. Quite naturally, the new stockings began to sparkle with gay weaves and decorations.

(Kim Plool of Burlington, Vt., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Monday, May 19, the 139th day of 1969. There are 226 days left in the year.

On this date in 1536, the second queen of England's King Henry VIII, Anne Boleyn, was beheaded in London.

In 1795, the Baltimore philanthropist, John Hopkins, was born.

In 1876, a centennial exposition opened in Philadelphia.

In 1941, during World War II, Italian troops surrendered to the British in the mountains of northern Ethiopia.

A Junior Editors Quiz About STOCKINGS

QUESTION: Why didn't women wear gay stockings long ago?

* * *

ANSWER: The ancient Egyptians, Greeks and Romans, living in a warm climate, had little need for stockings. The stocking idea seems to have originated in the East. Long pantaloons, half stockings and half trousers, were worn by many Asiatic peoples, and these came to influence early Western clothing styles. At upper left we show the full man's stockings (called hose) worn in the Medieval period. It was the men, with their more active lives, who wore the stockings. The stay-at-home women were draped in voluminous skirts and remained so for hundreds of years. After 1600, men's long tight hose became divided into upper and lower hose; the upper turned into knee length breeches, the lower remained as stockings. Later, simpler styles brought in the long trousers men wear today. Women's voluminous dresses hung on until the period when women began to lead the same active lives as men. Long clumsy skirts were in the way and became shorter. And women began to wear the long stockings men used in the Medieval period. Quite naturally, the new stockings began to sparkle with gay weaves and decorations.

(Kim Plool of Burlington, Vt., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)
